Youth Plans for a Post War World the American Way

REF. 373 W139 1944
The Wakitan
Dear Joan,
I have only known you this year and I have been a very nice girl to know you. May I keep knowing you? I wish for you to be a very nice girl. A Virginia girl. Dear Joan, although you are a very nice girl you will have to work hard. I have found out that you are a very nice girl. I have found that you are a very nice girl. Love future years.

To Our Readers

Our Theme:

Youth looks forward to an inspiring new world, dedicated in hearts of people who speak freely, choose their own government, and worship God as they please. We, the youth of today look ahead at our truly great Post-War World.

These simple rights of man-kind, so wholesome, so sincere, and simple that it seems absurd anyone should seek to drive from minds of men the ideals of fellowship, enthusiasm, power, and enlightenment. It is for youth to teach the youth of all nations these ideals.

In writing a final word to the graduating Seniors, we hope that in order for you to excel in the finer standards and traditions of America you will cultivate stout hearts, clear heads, and ambitions of integrity and honor. Youth speaks on the Post-War World to benefit the entire nation. Our 1944 Wakitan board wishes to express in the book, the numerous desires, and planning of the future. Marching side by side, the youth of today greets the youth of tomorrow better informed of the task ahead.

The long winding trail to success, the goal of every American youth can and will be achieved by work, study, and ambition. In the years to come because they have gained that knowledge, that strength, Youth will Speak On The Post-War World.

Editors.

Youth's High Hopes for Post-War World
Upon entering Miss Calla E. Varner’s office we see immediately that she is trying, in her conversation with students, to help fit them for the post-war world. Our capable principal displays an interest in her students, not only in their school work, but also in their community interests.

Her fellowship is felt and seen throughout Central’s halls. A friendly greeting she bestows on many classmen while passing to and from classes during the day. She distinguishes each student, calling him by name, making him feel a distinct part of Central High School.

We recognize and commend her for her efficiency, intelligence, and kindness—great factors in any community.

Enlightenment of student careers by special conferences with the principal develops an untold power for the students’ part in the post-war world.

Youth’s Praise
Of Principal
Outstanding Guidance by School Board

American youth visits the school board, and finds it is composed of outstanding members of the community whose primary aim is to help bring to the students such courses which are destined to bring about a post-war world of peace and prosperity.

Mr. Blackwell is an efficient and capable man, who has taken over the work since Mr. Tracy Dale left to take his place as a captain in the armed forces of his country.

BOARD OF EDUCATION
Second Row: Mr. George Blackwell, Mr. E. F. Garvey, Mr. Harry Herschman, Mr. W. Fairleigh Enright.
Leaving Miss Calla E. Varner's office, the American youth strolls down the office hall. While doing so he catches a fleeting glimpse of Mr. Marion Gibbins talking to a student relative to the future desires of that person. Mr. Gibbins is ever constantly giving well appreciated advice to the students concerning the high school courses which will best afford the students a definite position in the post-war world.

Mr. Gibbins, as boys' counselor, has also stated many well founded words of advice to the boys. His actions alone tell of his interest in the youth of the school. He has talked with the boys about their work in the future; work which will place them ahead in the world. Building civic responsibility into the minds of the students is another of the many tasks which he has undertaken to prepare them for the long journey ahead.

Mr. Gibbins' genial disposition and his high integrity are indicative of his ability as leader in the new world. Competency is one of the many of his keynotes for success. His attributes definitely foreshadow his ability as leader in the post-war world.
As the American youth passes through the office, he sees great freedom of action.

He learns that they expect the post-war period to bring greater responsibility to the office of Central High School. Work has been greatly increased with the coming of the war. Records of students who attended Central in the past are now sent to Army and Navy officials, stating their grade averages and the school activities in which they were engaged. Many of the inquiries coming in are concerned with employment references of the present students. Attendance records are much more complicated now due to the migration of people, students coming and going, and the absence due to work. This work has been placed upon the shoulders of Miss Cecelia Freedman and Miss Betty Hayward. Miss Hayward receives all money deposited in the school, banks it, gives receipts, and pays all bills. The students who work in the office render valuable services. Experienced, energetic people like them will be needed in the post-war world.

Keeps Machinery Functioning
At the conclusion of the momentary glimpse of Mr. Gibbins and a brief visit with the office force, the American youth wanders toward the north end of the office hall, catching a fleeting look of Miss Hester DeNeen to conclude his trip through the office. Like Mr. Gibbins, Miss DeNeen has also given the students many wise words of advice, thus making her well-liked by all. Her well-founded advice will be basically one of the foundations for life in the future.

Miss DeNeen is broad minded; she has a large scope of thoughts and actions, many of which concern the aspects of life in the future. As girls’ counselor, she comes into close contact with the desires of the students, and, as a good pilot should be, advises and steers them on the true courses. Miss DeNeen is also sponsor of the Student Council, again coming into direct contact with the desires of the students.

The spirit of enthusiasm is quite dominant in Miss DeNeen; she willingly and cheerfully accomplishes her tasks. She is a most suggestive and cooperative person, always giving preference to the student wishes over other trivial matters. The crystal globe of any seer could easily foretell a place of leadership for Miss DeNeen in the world which results from actions at the peace table.

Senior Class History

Probably never in the history of the school has a senior class been faced with so many complex problems as the present senior class. They are up against a war that has already changed their ideas for the future, and has been a definite factor in their courses in the senior year. The senior boys knowing that in all probability they will enter some branch of the service have taken aeronautics, physics, radio, advanced mathematics, and vocational training in place of the regular academic studies. Many of the girls preparing for this changing world took the commercial studies of shorthand, typing, business English, and comptometry.

The senior class with a membership of 261 students have a splendid record in all their undertakings. Some became students of the Hillyard Vocational School. Many participated in War Bond and salvage drives, music, sports, and dances. The class has the honor of having many senior boys already in the armed forces with more to go after graduation.

The responsible job of directing the social life of the senior class was handled by Miss Mary Myers and Miss Sarah Spencer. Miss Vera Tilson tended to the student curricular program. The senior officers are: John Wilkening, president; Bill Meadows, vice-president; Lily Mae Donly, secretary; and Evelyn Swartz, treasurer.
High Ranking Students

High ranking students of the 1944 Central High School Senior Class are: Norman Carroll, James Hayward, John Wilkening, Jean Marie Carroll, Jesse Lee Helenthal, and Evelyn Swartz. These members not only lead their class in scholarship but have been very active in extra-curricular activities.

Norman Carroll was seen frequently in assembly programs. He always helped to promote the welfare of Central.

James Hayward performed his duties as National Honor Society president in a highly creditable manner. He manifested great interest in Hi-Y, military, athletics, and plays.

John Wilkening was elected president of the Senior Class, president of Central Hi-Y, captain in R. O. T. C., and commander of the Shield and Spear.

Jean Marie was home room president and an efficient worker in the office.

Jessie Lee Helenthal took an active part in Student Council work and sports.

Evelyn Swartz was a member of the Forum Club and treasurer of the Senior Class.

Junior Class History

The Junior Class, composed of approximately three hundred students, began an active year September 7, 1943. Confronted with many problems due to the war demands, they faced the situation bravely, and are now prepared to enter into a very unusual and strenuous Senior year.

Students omitted many courses and extra-curricular activities which seemed less essential to their needs in order to help meet the manpower shortage.

Science and mathematics courses continue to increase in popularity, while commercial and vocational courses attract many who now hold or hope soon to hold jobs.

Phil Denver, whom the Juniors have chosen from their midst to guide them through the year, has shown his capability and efficiency in many ways.

Mary Jane Connett was chosen vice-president, and has always played an outstanding part in the class activities. She was president of Bliss during her Freshman year, and was secretary here at Central during her Sophomore year.

Nancy Chase, secretary of the Junior class, has proved herself capable of holding such a responsible position.

Geraldine Ray, treasurer, has given her fellow classmates good service to show she is capable of the trust placed upon her. She has represented the class in the Student Council and other class activities.

The Juniors selected these students to represent them in the Student Council the first semester: John Beltz, Harry Briggs, Harlan Carpenter, Nancy Chase, Mary Jane Connett, Nancy Ann Forgrave, Jim Gooding, Alan Hawley, Dorothy Lucas, Geraldine Ray, Tommy Smith, and Mary Summers. Those chosen for second semester were: Weller Bayer, John Beltz, Nancy Chase, Mary Jane Connett, Beverly Dawson, Nancy Ann Forgrave, Jimmy Goedding, Allan Hawley, Geraldine Ray, Tommy Smith, and Mary Summers.

Much of the success of the Junior class is due to the excellent guidance of their sponsors, Miss Ethel Crawford and Miss Jessie Roberts, and of their counselor, Miss Ruth Spangberg.

Sophomore Class History

This year the Sophomore class, composed of three hundred and thirty-eight members, has been more outstanding in all activities than have classes in previous years. They have taken part in presentations given by the musical organizations such as band, orchestra, choir, and glee club. Numerous others have participated in athletics and clubs of various types. They have been gathered together from many schools, some having attended Central in their Freshman year, and others coming later from Noyes, Bliss, and other communities.

The Sophomores have been helped and guided through a very successful year by their class sponsors, Miss Lucille Marechal and Miss Kathleen Lindsay. Their counselor, Miss Neva Wallace, has given her time gladly to any problems that may have confronted them.

The Sophomore citizens elected Austin Thomas as president of their class to guide them throughout the year. Austin came from Bliss Junior High School where he served on the Student Council. Some of his activities during his Sophomore year were: reserve football letter, president of the Delta Hi-Y, fire chief, and orchestra.

The office of vice-president was given to Joan Archer who has served her class faithfully. She came to Central from Noyes Junior High School where she was on the Student Council and secretary of her home room, member of the G. A. A., and Dramatics Club.

Marilyn Murray was elected secretary by her fellow classmates. Marilyn came from Noyes where she served on the Student Council, and as secretary of her home room. She is also secretary of her home room here at Central.

The treasurer, Helen Fisher, has taken a very active part while at Central. Helen came to Central from Roosevelt Junior High School.

The Sophomores elected the following members to represent them on the first semester Student Council: Betty Lou Allen, Burton Barkus, Helen Louise Fisher, Bob Greenberg, Thomasine Jager, Beverly Lawrence, Margaret McDonald, Billy Ruoff, Betty Ann Sawyers, and Austin Thomas.

Margaret McDonald has brought honor to her class by being elected the Sponsor Captain by Company A. She was nominated and elected by the cadets of the company.

Freshman Class History

From Bliss, Noyes, and Everett, on September 7, 1943, came Freshmen to enter the halls of Central. Many of them looked very happy, some dazed, and others sad. These youngsters, bewildered and amazed, assembled in the auditorium for their first orientation program. For the first week of school a program was presented every day acquainting the Freshmen with the courses, activities, and ways of Central.

One of the activities they took part in was the Student Government. Joining in with their upper classmen they elected their class officers at the beginning of the year.

The election of Howard Erickson for their president and capable leader, showed that the younger minds are constantly alert to a successful future for the class. Other officers chosen were Phyliss Everett, vice-president; Margaret Cousins, secretary; and Sue Lechler, treasurer.

This class has been guided by the most reliable teachers, Miss Marguerite Jones and Miss Leolian Carter.

Other students who took an active part in this year's Student Council and will help lead the Freshmen in their three coming years at Central are the Student Council representatives. Those who represented the Freshmen the first semester were, Howard Erickson, Charlotte Freedman, Hugh Gray, Walker LaBrunerie, Sue Lechler, and Alfred Wenz.

Second semester representatives were, Phyliss Everett, Henrietta Brown, Hugh Gray, Donald Redpath, Jo Ann Toel, and Lou Ann Welsch.

Typing Class

Entering in the commercial department of our school we find many busy classmen at work making every minute of time count. These students show their initiative through their ability to do their work with speed and accuracy.

Stenography and Typing can be taken for three semesters. Usually during the fourth semester the student takes Office Practice. Thus when he enters the business world, he can manage efficiently.

Bookkeeping is the study of how to keep business records and books. Comptometry is also offered to the Central students.

American Government Class

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on social science studies, as they will play a most important role in laying the foundation for our post-war world.

Citizenship is required of freshmen students for the purpose of developing their characters to become better and active citizens.

It is required of all students to take United States History in their junior year and American Government alternated with Economics in their senior year.

Class Room Work
The Mathematics Department has been somewhat enlarged in response to demands concerning the war effort. Besides algebra, geometry and trigonometry, refresher and general math are also taught.

Refresher math is taught to seniors only, as it is a review of algebra and geometry, both of which are offered in the freshman and junior year.

General mathematics includes some business math and also touches geometry, algebra, and a small portion of trigonometry.

The main objective of a course in geometry as given at the present time is the development of clear thinking.

The dominant aim of algebra is to analyze a problem, to formulate it, and to interpret the result.

The field of mechanical drawing and woodwork has not been invaded yet but perhaps the time will come when as many girls will take it as boys.

Printing, considered a boys' subject for many years, is now taken by many girls.

Art is a subject that fits well in every day life. The teacher and students can become better acquainted because they work together for the same desired end.

Two very useful subjects especially in the present times are foods and clothing. Much stress has been put on proper eating this year by the government, community, and the schools. A "Nutrition Club" was formed by Miss Georgia Vaughn's food classes to promote more healthful eating among the students.

One year of natural science is required of a Central student in order to graduate. Science is a great help in the development of character. It makes students think clearly and solve problems intelligently — abilities which will be a great asset in our post-war world.

Every high school student must take three years of English, which is a required subject to enter college or to graduate from high school. In making plans for our post-war world students must be able to speak and write the mother tongue fluently. There are many types of English to choose from. Classics, the fundamentals of grammar, writing, American and English literature are the basic studies in English. A selection may be made for senior year.

Speech and dramatics is another course scheduled to students for the purpose of obtaining poise and ease before an audience. During the first part of the year the dramatics class specialized in one act plays. The second semester, their attention focused on the production of the all-school play, being "Junior Miss".

Any boy holding a job outside of school can take either Personal Problems or Consumers' Science. These are elective courses and are not required. These studies help to make a boy successful in any occupation he may choose, and to apply science to his daily life.

Human Relations is a course for girls in which informal discussions are held on poise, personality, and the development of character. Being a relatively new subject it has drawn a great deal of attention and brought a favorable response.

The language department offers two very valuable subjects: one is Latin, the basis of all languages, and Spanish is the other.
HEADLINES! NEWS STORIES! FEATURES! RUNS! You'll find them all in the Central Outlook. Few people realize the hustle and bustle that goes on in Room 204 before the papers come out on Friday. By the time one paper leaves the presses, another is already in the making.

From Friday until Wednesday, there's a constant rush, interviewing people, soliciting for ads, looking up various things, waiting for the typewriters, some even working frantically during lunch period to beat the deadline.

At the beginning of the period on Monday, assignments are given by the editors and they're off. The advertising board assumes a humble expression and heads for the downtown district. Misses Varner and DeNeen, and Mr. Gibbins are duly interviewed. This whirlwind goes on three days. By Wednesday the editors' hair is nearly all pulled out and their fingernails chewed down to the wrist. Finally, however, everything is in, just when it seemed hopeless, the material is with the printers, and everyone heaves a sigh of relief. Now all that has to be done on Thursday is to put the whole thing together.

We have tried to portray a true picture of school life and activities.
The Wakanit Tribe started off with a "fight to the finish" war hoop in October of 1943, when they assembled to choose the cover for the annual. The two chief warriors were selected from the tribe and the Indian editors under them. Each Indian was assigned a job with orders to carry on to the finish. As their theme they choose the Post-War Peace and published a paper in which the headlines revealed the four main ideals involved to accomplish this Peace. They are: enlightenment, power, fellowship, and enthusiasm.

The material was then brought to the main tent for assembling the dummy book. After all corrections were made the book was sent to the printers for a final printing and publishing.

To advertise its books the board presented a play in which the theme of the Wakanit and peace in the post-war world were the main picture. A Hitler youth was shown the difference of peace loving nations compared to that of his own. The different races represented were those of China, Russia, American Indians and the Negro race. Inspiration was shown through speeches, dances, a song and costumes to represent each corner of the world. These countries were gathered around a peace table, each expressing its desire for an ever lasting peace on this planet.

The chief direction of the work is under Miss Kathryn J. Stiles, adviser. The co-editors are Gretchen Vequist and Charles Pankewicz.

The post-war world will demand a great many individuals who have had a thorough knowledge and vast experience in the holding of responsible government positions to conduct the affairs of the future world. Such a group of students is the Student Council which participated in the present and future developments of the school; the members of which are students who have been chosen by the general student body to act as their representatives to discuss and bring about a closer relationship and good feeling between students and faculty.

The Student Council has been functioning since 1924 when it met each week with Miss Calla E. Varner, school principal. Since 1941 the Student Council has been under the supervision of Miss Hester DeNeen, the present sponsor.

The president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the student body are the officers of the Student Council. The 1943-44 officers of the Student Council are: president, Scotty Murray; vice-president, Roger Crennwald; secretary, Jessie Lee Helenthal; and treasurer, Tommy Wiley.

The parliamentarian is James Hayward. Weller Bayer is the chaplain.

Thrills of pleasure descended upon twenty-four seniors and fifteen juniors when they were tapped March 17 to become members of the National Honor Society. The new members were tapped by the old members who were: Patricia Barr-honor of being elected into this society. Becoming a member of the National Honor Society is one of the greatest honors a high school student may obtain for it denotes that the student has rendered invaluable service to his school, has excelled in scholarship and leadership, and whose character is of the highest.

Students are judged on the points of scholarship, leadership, personality, and character and all activities taken part in during the high school years. The candidates are voted on by the faculty, the National Honor Society, and the candidates themselves.

The formal initiation ceremony took place a month following Tap Day, April 18. The initiation committee is headed by Esther Levine with John Wilkening, and Lily Mae Donly assisting. On this impressive ceremony the new members wear white, and the old members wear formals.

The first semester officers were: John Wilkening, president; Ruth Ann Hawman, vice-president; Lily Mae Donly, secretary; Martha Farris, treasurer.

The second semester officers are: James Hayward, president; Ed Heiselman, vice-president; Jerry Burton, secretary; Ruth Ann Hawman, treasurer. Miss Freda Neal is sponsor of this organization.

Creative Writing

To the average student a course in Creative Writing is nothing more than a haven for the lunatic fringe, a chance for the screwy intelligentsia to mingle and develop each other’s insanity. But beyond this vague vision of genius prancing about the room in satin ballet slippers lies a world of mystery and confusion.

What do they do, these fifteen or twenty individuals who run about the room, tearing each other apart? Are they cannibals, intellectuals, or merely morons? probably the latter since the course requires no textbooks, examinations, or daily assignments. But those few misguided souls who enroll in Creative Writing expecting to loaf don’t remain to finish out the first six weeks. They learn to their surprise that inspiration doesn’t come from sitting around and gazing into the blue. Inspiration means only one thing, the ability to roll up your sleeves, sharpen your pencil, dig deep for ideas and begin. You write one line, cross it out and begin again. You chew your pencil and claw the paper in frenzy, but you don’t give up. You don’t always produce, but that’s not important. The big thing is that by attempting you have grown and matured.

Our new world is going to refuse to put up with straight laced and bigoted minds, but that world is going to have its price tag marked high. We can’t have it unless we learn to be more understanding and tolerant. To attain our shiny ideals we’re going to need thinkers and leaders, persons not wholly satisfied with the status quo, persons who have failed and triumphed, who have raged and suffered. We’ve come a long way from the English teacher who frowned upon the use of a “damn” or kept the high school boy in after school because he chose to write out his feelings toward the girl who sat behind him. Enlightenment means more than straight thinking and low stupid reserve preached by standard textbooks, it means learning to live, and grow.

The invaluable something gained from a course in writing might be called “understanding” but that’s putting it mildly. We learn how to be amateur psychologists, at least we make a valiant attempt at feeling and sympathizing with the other fellow.

Dear Joan,

I've known you for two years now and I sure don't regret it any. Your humor has cheered up many a person and you have personality plus plus plus. I'll never forget the fun we had at Hoye last year and the fun we had at Central this year and the fun we had this year and the fun we had of course had chasing Billy and Sherman. Of course we didn't chase them. I'm only kidding. We didn't chase them. I'm only kidding.

Your sweet, sincere, and very cute girl Joanie stay that way. (I know you will)

Christmas Pageant

This year's colorful and inspiring presentation of the annual Christmas Pageant gained acclaim from far and wide. The story of the birth of the Christ child was beautifully portrayed in seven scenes. Brilliant lighting effects with special music presented by a mixed chorus and Girls' Glee Club arranged in the orchestra pit, and Miss Eunice Gromer's all girl chorus seated in the balcony presented a pleasing appearance. The pageant was under the direction of Miss Freda Neal.

"Spreading the News"

"Spreading the News" was given by one of Mr. Martin Bryan's speech classes last November in assembly. This one-act comedy is the story of how gossip can be carried to extremes. The cast, having no past training in dramatics, ably presented the play.

"Junior Miss" A Central Hit

One of the highlights of the year at Central was the presentation of that popular Broadway hit, "Junior Miss". With a cast of thirteen boys and six girls, this entertaining comedy was presented in the school auditorium the night of March 24.

Outstanding work was done by the stage crew and art classes for the interior set. This was the first time in many former stage productions at Central that a complete set of flats was arranged for the set.

"Junior Miss", written by Chovodov and Fields, is the story of typical juvenile troubles. Those concerning thirteen-year-old Judy Graves. Her troubles with life, love and family scrapes made this hilarious comedy a brilliant success. Much new talent was discovered during the casting of this play. The supporting players contributed much toward this laughable, enjoyable, "Junior Miss".

Stage Crew

Scenery, lighting, and general management of the stage, this year, has been successfully handled by the stage crew. These boys are a peppy bunch who do very much to further the achievements of all who participate in assembly activities. The crew has various activities, ranging from the moving of chairs, tables, and other stage property to making scenery for plays and skits. This alert group is especially tested during assembly performances. During the plays they are simultaneously pulling curtains, snapping light switches, and moving property with the speed of a trained athlete.

Another energetic and necessary member is the boy who takes charge of the public address system. A great deal depends upon his adaptability to the particular moment at hand.

Motion Picture Operators

Natural science, social science, English, and constructive arts films are but a few of the educational films shown by the above motion picture operators. These boys have been under the helpful guidance and sponsorship of Mrs. Vita Slater. They have indeed served their school well in so far as they have brought enjoyment to all classes who attended the showings of various films. The films were shown in accordance with the subject being taught in the respective classes. After each showing the teacher grades the film and specifies whether or not she wishes the film to be shown to her classes next year and the time when she wants it shown.

This is a self-teaching organization with the members teaching each other. After approximately 50 hours of projection work, they are awarded a certificate by the school.

The students who have been outstanding in their duties were: Bill Seidel and Shirley Patt who have worked hard issuing passes and checking the operators hours. Bill Payne was in charge of mailing the films back to the companies. Bud Phillips was appointed to the position of Chief Operator.

Choir

The Choir is the only choral group at Central containing both boys and girls. It has been an indispensible part of Central’s entertainment this year. Clothed in their black robes, they appeared before us on the Christmas and Easter programs.

The Choir is composed of forty members. Regardless of the fact that boys are concerned with war preparatory subjects, more boys are enrolled this year than ever before.

Girls’ Glee Club

The Girls’ Glee Club has participated in one very effective program at Central this year. Beautiful background has been provided on the stage and was an effective setting for the Glee Club in the Christmas Program as the Glee Club marched down the aisles in their white robes.

These forty members of the Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Mynatt Breidenthal, have appeared also in programs at various schools and churches.

Seventy-three
The students have enjoyed their work very much this year, and Mr. Mynatt Breidenthal commended them for their excellent cooperation and great interest in their work. Perhaps no other school activity has done so much toward building up student morale as the splendid work of the orchestra under the able direction of Mr. Breidenthal. It has been said that music is the universal language and certainly it is one medium, the common ground upon which we can all meet and give expression to our finer natures.

Central's orchestra has served with distinction throughout the 1943-44 school year on many occasions; such as assemblies and practically all school events. The cultural development of the individual orchestra members, as well as their collective achievement, has been apparent to all.

The student director of the orchestra for the past year has been Tommy Smith. The personnel of the orchestra consists of thirteen violins, three cellos, five flutes, one oboe, one bassoon, four saxophones, five clarinets, six French horns, five trumpets, seven trombones, three string basses, three tubas, one tympani, one bass drum, and one side drum.

Our Band

The band, under the expert leadership of Mr. Myra Beitenthal, was composed of eighty members this year. Through their enthusiasm and integrity they have accomplished a great deal during the past year and have been one of Central's most helpful organizations. Their spring concert, given in the auditorium Sunday, March 5, 1944, highlighted their musical endeavor. The complete band participated in this concert and their brilliant blue uniforms with gold braid trim drew a great deal of attention.

Concert Master this year is James Hayward and Student Director is Robert Lindsay. They both have done a great deal toward the progress of the band this year.
Some of the various activities which the band participated in during the past year were: all football games, parades, B.O.T. C. parades, and several assemblies.

Central High School Band
Colonel William C. Washington, although P. M. S. & T. of the R. O. T. C. units in the Seventh Corps area for only one year, has won respect and esteem from all the cadets. His periodical visits to the individual schools and his lectures on military science have been instructive.

Colonel Washington was formerly with the Coast Artillery prior to his appointment as R. O. T. C. director.

The hard work of Sergeant Jewell A. McCrosky, Central’s military instructor, has won for Central the title of honor school for the past twelve years. His many hours spent with the cadets have been very enjoyable. The cadets’ enthusiasm in R. O. T. C. was chiefly inspired by Sergeant McCrosky.

The Regimental Staff for 1944 as announced by Sergeant McCrosky, consisted of Colonel Tommy Wiley; Lieutenant-Colonel Bob Myers; Majors John Daly, Arthur Roth, and John Wilkening; and the Adjutant Captains Joe Roe and Jack Scrivner.

The sponsor captains are: Margaret McDonald, Company A; Martha Westpheling, Company B; Nancy Chase, Company C; and Joyce Mann, Company D. The duties of the sponsors are to attend all R. O. T. C. functions, such as parades, banquets, and inspections. Upon becoming sponsor colonel and sponsor captains they automatically become members of the Shield and Spear.

Shield and Spear

The Shield and Spear, Central’s R. O. T. C. club, was first originated in 1930. Since then it has been one of the foremost clubs in the city. It is a charter club of Central and has Sergeant Jewell A. McCrosky for its sponsor. In former years, the Shield and Spear was an honorary club and membership was open to everyone in R. O. T. C. who made an average grade and showed a certain amount of ability. The past three years found it a club exclusive for officers.

The second semester Shield and Spear officers are: Commander, Tommy Wiley; Vice-Commander, Arthur Roth; Adjutant, Stewart Lambers; Chaplain, John Wilkening; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Bob Myers.

R. O. T. C.

The training and instruction which the R. O. T. C. cadets at Central have received during the past year will provide an excellent, basic military background for better understanding of the military problems which will confront them in the post-war world.

For the last thirteen successive years, through the untiring efforts of the cadets, Central’s R. O. T. C. unit has been rated as an honor school in the Seventh Corps Area.

The strenuous physical fitness program which was imposed upon the cadets through this country’s participation in the present war will prepare them with sound minds and bodies for entrance into the post-war world. The pre-induction training offered through the R. O. T. C. courses given at Central will stimulate their interests in post-war military action.

"She comes, she comes, our radiant queen, and joyful are we all."

In a spectacular and colorful ceremony Miss Betty Bermond was crowned 1943-44 football queen. The beautiful program under the direction of Miss Freda Neal was presented in an assembly presided over by the student president, Scotty Murray.

Betty Bermond's simplicity of manner, her sunny, friendly temperament, her personal beauty and charm—above all her eagerness to be of service in any capacity, however humble, makes her an ideal queen. Betty, a popular senior, is an active member of the Student Council, and will be remembered as having set a high standard of queenship—loyalty to her school, and complete devotion to the duties of her office.

Her attendants were the Misses Martha Westpheling, Patricia Srite, and Shirley Cargill. The maid of honor was Joyce Mann. Shirley Grant served as crown-bearer and the train attendants were Shirley Schroers and Betty McDonell. The singing of "On Oh Central" closed the 1943 Football Coronation.
1943-44 Football History

The 1943-44 football season found Coach Fritz Cronkite confronted with the task of building practically a new squad. We salute Coach Cronkite who built a team that played fine football and tied for the city championship.

Central went into the first game with a comparatively green squad and the result was a 6 to 6 tie with Savannah.

The second game found Central dropping a close one, 12 to 6 in Springfield's favor.

Lafayette was next in the Indian's path. Central narrowly missed a victory, being ahead 12 to 0 at the half. However, in the last half Lafayette's passing attack went into action, and they won the game in the last few seconds, 14 to 12.

After holding a 7 to 6 lead at the conclusion of the third quarter the Indians lost to North Kansas City, 12 to 7.

The fifth game was played on a water soaked field against a powerful Topeka squad. The final score, Topeka 25, Central 0.

In the second Intra-City clash of the year the Indians swamped a favored Christian Brothers team, 19 to 0.

The lone trip of any distance was made to Joplin where the Indians met probably its toughest opponent of the whole year.

The Indians ended what looked like a poor season in a blaze of glory by defeating a previously unbeaten Benton team, 19 to 14. The Central line outmaneuvered Benton throughout the entire game and the Central backs gained 222 yards by rushing to Benton's 66.

Basketball Review

The nineteen Indian cagers gained renown as a team which could win the important games. The Indians were conquerors of mighty Christian Brothers in two games out of three. The 45 to 49 victory over Christian Brothers at the Auditorium will probably be long remembered as it was one of the finest exhibitions of basketball ever to be witnessed here. Injuries hampered the Indians throughout the season but they just missed going to the State to make it two years in a row.

The regular season was somewhat unimpressive on paper but by tournament time the Indians were ready and won the sub-regional and advanced to the regional finals where they were unexpectedly beaten by Hopkins.

Roger Grunwald—A great guard who was the mainstay of the team.

Bob Fraser—A fine shot and a game fighter.

Dick Miller—An excellent rebounder and team man.

Scotty Murray—Very fast and a good eye for the basket.

Francis Houston—A fine tournament man.

John Daly—A good guard and very aggressive.

Shelby Smith—A fine guard of which much is expected next year.

Scotty Murray—Captain of the team.

The Fritz Cronkite Trophy awarded annually to the player with the highest percentage of free throws made in season games went to Bob Fraser.

The Indians have lost two key track men to the armed forces, Ed Borkowski, star of the 100 and 220 yard dash and the relays, left for the Army Air Forces. Charles Scarlett, who ran the high hurdles, was anchor man in the Medley Relay and Central's only pole vaulter for the last three years, joined the Marines.

There is a possibility that Roger Grunwald, Central's current all-around athlete, will be lost to professional baseball before the track season opens. Grunwald was Central's best weight man last year and also was outstanding in the dashes. Despite these losses, there are still five letter men. Bob Fraser will run the high hurdles and will probably be the Indians' main stay in the field events. John Daly will replace Grunwald in the weights, Jim Hayward will run the mile. Bob Blankenship will show in the 440, and Bill Ruoff, a sophomore, the dashes.

Coach Fritz Cronkite has not planned his meets, but included somewhere in the program will be five duals, one with each of the city schools, one with Savannah, and one with Pickett. Plans are also being made for a four-state meet to be held at Central Stadium under lights. At this time efforts are being made by the Missouri State High School Athletic Association to arrange dates satisfactory to teams from Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa high schools.

There will be no state indoor meet, however, there will be a state outdoor meet to which Central will send as many representatives as are capable of making a good showing.

The requirements for earning a "C" are now relatively light. A first place in a dual meet, or a total of ten points throughout the whole season will letter any track hopeful. With this inducement, Coach Cronkite had a large turn-out for the initial meeting, Monday, March 13.

This year the "C" Club has grown to be one of Central's largest and finest clubs. Their activities include a dance, the sale of refreshments during games and the purchasing of special awards for the various sports. The "C" Club has brought together the lettermen from all of the major sports. John Mahaffey is the club president; Gutherie Hillix, vice-president; Bob Mattill, treasurer; and Bob Scarlett is the secretary.

Mac and Zim

Miss Madeline McDonald, and Miss Verna Zimmerman, who replaced Miss Jessie Jutten, now serving in the armed forces, have worked hard and diligently to make this an outstanding year in girls sports.

Sports play an important part in the life of each Central girl. The honor of receiving a “C” letter and “C” pin gives each girl something to work for. Sports teach the girls how to give and receive commands, how to obey, how to coordinate themselves with other players, and to cooperate in the attainment for a given end. All this has been accomplished here at Central this year through the untiring efforts of Miss McDonald, Miss Zimmerman and through the full cooperation of the students.

G. A. A. Board

Each spring the members of the Girls’ Athletic Association elects for the following year the G. A. A. Board, composed of the officers and managers of the various sports offered at Central. It is indeed an honor to become a member of this governing body in G.A.A. work. The leadership is what makes Central’s G. A. A. so outstanding. This board regulates one of the most important and one of the largest clubs in Central High School. The various managers of the after school sports do a splendid job in organizing and carrying out the tournaments.

Awards for 79
Volleyball

All out cooperation and team work are the important factors of this popular game. One of the biggest tournaments in many years was held at Central, with more than two-hundred fifty girls participating. With the help of the fifth period leadership class who assisted in officiating and coaching, Virginia Howard, manager, made this an outstanding season of volleyball. Senior III captained by Lorene Kelch, won the championship from Senior II captained by Eleanor Bridenthal, by winning the required two out of three games.

Hockey

Senior II, captained by Elaine Moore, and Senior II, captained by Betty Colburn, are co-champs of a most unusual and exciting tournament. The girls had the honor of having Miss Jessie Jutten, former physical education instructor, now a Lieutenant in the Marine Corp, officiate at the final game. During her brief visit at Central, Lieutenant Jutten drilled the girls in the manner customary in the Marine Corps. Because the rules designate that no overtime period is to be played, the championship game ended by a score of 2-2 at the final gun.
Swimming

Both an indoor sport and an outdoor sport, swimming is fast becoming one of the most popular sports at Central. All classes are held at the Y. W. C. A. Four types of activity are offered. The beginners and intermediates are given instruction by a capable leader, and the advanced group participates in a recreational type program. A Red Cross life saving class is also conducted as a regular part of the swimming program. Dorothy Lucas was the capable manager of this sport.

Basketball

A well planned and a well managed tournament was carried out through the cooperation of the girls, the manager, Betty Colburn, and the faculty. A thrilling and interesting finale was held when the game went into a double overtime. Nadine Coy's free throw won the championship for Senior III, a score of 26 to 25. Mirium Hotchkiss was captain of the winning Senior III, and Marilyn Hall was captain of the losing Junior X. The sophomores completed a tournament among themselves, and then competed in the finals. The freshmen played off their tournament after the main event was completed.
Bowling

The Recreation Club was the scene of many happy Wednesday afternoons and Saturday mornings. This year a smooth rolling tournament was completed through the able leadership of the bowling manager, Lorraine Mattson. Rhythm, coordination and confidence in one's self, all go to make a successful bowler. More than one hundred seventy-five girls competed for the individual championship and the teams competed for the team championship. Barbara Elliott was captain of the winning team, with Virginia Collins, Beverly Randall, and Lorraine Mattson as her teammates.

Soccer

Soccer, a game more popular with the girls of former years, was played only by the freshmen this year. With the assistance of the fifth period leadership class, Miss Verna Zimmerman conducted a Round Robin Tournament, in which over forty girls participated. This sport is played on the grassy lawn in front of the school in the late fall. Strong legs, a good runner, and a clear thinker are some of the qualifications of a good player. Peggy Babcock was captain of the winning Freshman III team, and Sue Leecher was captain of the losing Freshman II team.
Archery

This club, sponsored by Miss Mary Myers and with the membership opened to both boys and girls, proved to be an outstanding club of the year. During the fall and the spring this group set up their target outdoors every evening after school and learned to become good archers. Because of the fire hazards connected with having the straw in the school building, no practice could be held during the winter season. Marion Harter proved to be the best archer among the boys, and Lois Gordon was the outstanding archer among the girls.

Baseball

This season of baseball was one of much interest to us all. Throughout the season a great deal of competition was shown and excellent games were played each night after school. True sportsmanship and fair play prevailed through the entire season. Bad weather kept the tournament play behind schedule, but the final game was played just before the close of school. Junior II won the championship from the sophomores by a close margin. It was very unusual to have a sophomore team competing in the finals rather than a senior team.
Ping Pong
Interesting to watch and interesting to play is ping-pong. The champion is Lois Gorden.

Archery
A most enthusiastic archer is the manager of this new but popular sport, Patricia Barber.

Bowling
To be champion bowler among so many girls, one must really be an expert as is Gertrude Zultowski.

Horseshoes
An expert at this interesting outdoor sport is our own versatile Lois Gorden.

Tennis
Last fall Shirley Patt showed her skill by defeating Jo Ann Collier to become tennis champion.

Badminton
A watchful eye and clear head are those characteristics possessed by Lois Gorden, the badminton champion.

The Square Dance Club, sponsored by Miss Madeline McDonald and Miss Verna Zimmerman, is one of the most popular of all the clubs at Central. The membership of the organization is between ninety and one hundred. It is made up mainly of Juniors and Seniors but is open to the entire school.

Square Dance Club

One Hundred

The club has made many appearances this past year on assemblies and for other civic organizations. They have made trips to King City and Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri, and numerous other invitations had to be declined. Their costume consists of bright satin shirts and long colonial style dresses. Interest in the club is ever increasing from year to year and it is looking forward to a great future in post-war.
We see the pep club at a basketball or football game. They are sitting in a section reserved for them, yelling at the top of their lungs. They all have on their blue skirts and white sweat shirts and the cheerleaders who are in front of them are also in blue and white. There are thirty-six varsity members and eleven reserve members in the club. These girls know all the yells of our school, and are very efficient in teaching others. The club helps a great deal in promoting enthusiasm for our games, and also in helping the morale of our players.

During the football games the club practiced and perfected a number of stunts. One in particular was the Shamrock. The members of the club formed in honor of Lafayette High School at our game with them.
