I am the Central Indian. Some call me just a symbol or a mascot, but I am more than that. I am Central—I am her halls, her classrooms, her activities, her people—the teachers and the students. I am every freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior.

I am the breeze that stirs the flag; the hush during a prayer; the blue pass from the office; the roaring cheers when a victory is won; the sounds of laughter echoing through the air; the tears at graduation.

And, I am modern. I am the spirit of a progressive school—progressive in thought and action, pushing forward, striving toward the top in every field of knowledge.

I am the Central Indian, a guide to Central—her halls, her classrooms, her activities, her people—leading the way through Central of 1956.

Footsteps along the crowded halls; the thud of opening books; music drifting through the air; the clank of a locker; the blare of the loudspeaker; the whir of a saw; voices blended together; the ringing bell—this is our school. This is where we superintendent...

Mr. George Blackwell

St. Joseph's Superintendent of Schools is well acquainted with Central High School. Mr. Blackwell, our city's head man in the education system, taught social studies and was an assistant coach at Central from 1931 to 1935, when he assumed the duties of Central's Vice-Principal. After serving in this position for three years, Mr. Blackwell became principal of Roosevelt Junior High School. From there he has advanced to business manager in the main office of the school system and to his present position of Superintendent of Schools.

Mr. Blackwell has six able assistants in the work of educating St. Joseph's young people. The distinguished members of the Board of Education help Central students and those of the other city schools become the leaders and better citizens of tomorrow.
“A few words" will not be sufficient to tell all about Mr. Gibbins. Central’s Principal is a man of many abilities and duties. The position of Principal carries with it the responsibilities of organizing and administering a school in accordance with the policies of the School Board. This entails a great amount of work: co-ordinating both instructional and extra-curricular activities, working with the faculty, and maintaining a constant search for better methods, materials, and ideas to serve Centralites better. The ability to do this work has certainly been evident in Mr. Gibbins. Through his years at Central and his associations with the student body, he has won a place for himself in all Central memories. We who have worked with and been guided by Mr. Gibbins will remember him well.

“During this school year, which has passed all too quickly, I have found great pleasure in my associations with the many many fine young men and women who make up Central’s Student Body. The memory of these associations shall not fade. It is my sincere hope that Central has also provided for each of you abundant moments to remember.

I shall miss those who do not return, and to the Class of 1956, I extend congratulations for your fine achievements. May the years ahead bring you success and a full measure of happiness.”
"What are girls' advisers made of?" Understanding and humor and a great deal of patience are necessary ingredients, but Mrs. Graham brings something more to her position as Central's Dean of Girls—a genuine interest and fondness for people, which has marked her relations with the students of Central. Many girls are sent to her office by teachers and administrators, but many more "go see Mrs. Graham" to work out a problem. There they find Our Dean, whose capability has won the respect of Central students. Besides her work as Dean of Girls, Mrs. Graham has two speech classes and is sponsor of the Student Council and its myriads of projects.

Mr. Markley! These two words mean a great number of things to Central students and it's easy to understand why. Central's Vice-Principal, George Markley, is a man of many tasks and talents. The position of Vice-Principal carries with it the manifold duties of discipline, attendance, school finance, building maintenance, and athletic director. In addition to carrying out these, Mr. Markley teaches a psychology class.

Despite the amount of work under the direction of Mr. Markley, our Vice-Principal still finds room to offer advice and encouragement to students in his final role of adviser to boys. Central is indeed lucky to have a man so qualified and interested in his work as George Markley.
Passes, office requests, aspirin, leave permits, and thumb tacks—these, as well as much patience and sympathy, must be handed out daily from the office.

Heading the office staff are Mrs. Simmons, registrar, and Mrs. Walton, bookkeeper. It is Mrs. Simmons’ job to keep all student records, while Mrs. Walton handles the school finances and faculty records. Both are called upon many times to step into the roles of counselor, nurse, and friend.

Assisting with the many “odd jobs” are the 36 members of the office staff, six working each period of the day. These workers take care of the details which make the office operate efficiently.

"May I have this dance?" asks Mr. Wright of his skeleton friend at the Community Chest mock auction, while Miss Shackelford closes the bids.

Famous last words by Miss Tilson? "Oh, you won't take it?"

"The James Boys ride again," as Mr. Simmons, Mr. Markley, Mr. Stegman, and Mr. Gibbins, instrumentalize in the PTA Variety Show.
officers of the student council...

"Touching the blue and white we pledge our interests and honor to Central High School..." With these words the officers of the Central student body stated the ideals they hoped to follow and assumed the responsibility for heading student body activities during the year. As they hand down the gavel, file, minutes, and ledger to the next officers, they hand on the high traditions of a strong and effective student government at Central.
This is the student body - the freshmen, the sophomores, the juniors and the seniors that walk Central's halls. They fill her classrooms, they study, they raise their voices in discussion. Yet, they are always ready for activity - through clubs, and action - through sports and fun - at dances and parties. They give Central her spirit and her life!

Each Centralite is an individual, different in many ways; in thoughts, interest and goals. After graduation these differences will separate them, but they will always be a part of Central through their experiences as members of the student body.

These are the top six—the three boys and the three girls with the highest scholastic records of the Class of '56. Although the honor of being one of the top six is based solely on scholastic achievement for four years of high school, these students have been outstanding in extra curricular activities as well. All six became members of the National Honor Society in their junior year; five became members of the Forum Club as juniors and one as a senior. They have further displayed talent in athletics, music, dramatics, art, cheer-leading, and student government.

Time passes swiftly and last-minute announcements on the bulletin board catch the attention of busy seniors—last date for Wakitan pictures!—order announcements now!—money for graduation robes due this week! The end of four years of work comes quickly, with a maximum of events to cover, themes to hand in, and meetings to attend.

The senior year has been the climax of four busy years for the class of '56. As freshmen, the class originated class assemblies at Central with a story of the "flaming twenties"; a sophomore class assembly turned Central's stage into a "French night club." This year the Senior Melodrama was presented, a highly successful new type of Senior Variety Show, composed of an old-fashioned melodrama.

"Curse You, Jack Dalton," and a fine array of talent before and after the show.

As their junior class project, the class put on a colorful Junior-Senior Prom, in "Candyland"; this year the class, under the sponsorship of Miss Lemmon and Miss Marechal, gave the school, an amplifier system and four baby spotlights for the auditorium.

Members of the class have been prominent through scholastic ability, drama, art, music, athletics, R. O. T. C., and student government; and all have worked to make the four years at Central memorable.

With four successful and busy years behind them, the class must now look to the future and "their place in tomorrow."

"Enveloped in envelopes," junior class officers, Nancy Toler, secretary; Karol Jean Myers, vice-president; Eddie Herman, president; and Judy Sevy, treasurer, address invitations to the Junior-Senior Prom.

class of '57...

Envelopes and more envelopes! Invitations to the Junior-Senior Prom must be addressed to every junior and senior in Central High School, and the responsibility for this undertaking, as well as countless others connected with the prom, is on the shoulders of the juniors. The success of this dance depends upon the work and thought of the junior class; it is a credit to the class of '57 that their prom had upperclassmen "drifting and dreaming" all night.

The class of '57, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Pertain and Miss Tilson, earned the money for the prom with concession stands at the Football Jamboree and the Central-Lafayette game. The concession stands were so profitable that part of the money earned will be used next year to purchase the senior gift to the school.

Three years of activity now lie behind the class of '57; a freshman assembly, Hi-Y and Y-Teen events, accomplishments in the fields of sports, R. O. T. C., art, and music.

A sad "adieu" must be said to U. S. history and junior English classes, but the senior year awaits them to be enjoyed to the fullest. New subjects must be mastered, and new activities added to the already full list. It will truly be "their" year, as leaders of the school, to uphold the spirit and traditions of Central High School.

class of '58...

"Two down, and two to go!" Two years are gone for the class of '58—two years filled with new impressions and adjustments to high school life, when the sophomores, usually characterized as leaf and bug-hunters for biology classes, found time to make active contributions to Central.

This class literally "slaved over a hot stove" to help the school, when they held a cake and candy sale as a money-raising project. The results of this project were new trash barrels for the campus, and a start toward their senior gift.

Sophomores had an active representation in the Student Council, Glee Club, Pep Squad, Public Service Board and the Sophomore pilgrimage in Jefferson City. They also "held the spotlight" with appearances in the all-school play and the talent revue.

Sports occupied a prominent place in their year, as boys participated through the reserve football and basketball teams, as well as in track and baseball; several G. A. A. championships were captured by the girls.

Thus, two years have gone—the days of leaf and bug hunting are over, and the sophomore's abilities in many fields have been tested. But there are two more to be filled with exciting events and new experiences as they make the transition to the ranks of upperclassmen.

With the basis of their fine record of their past achievements, the class of '58 will continue to grow in learning, service, and leadership, in their remaining years at Central.

Sydney Smith, vice-president; Dick Landon, president; Linda Wray, secretary; Judy Kulowski, treasurer; "clean up" Central's campus, according to a long established tradition, enforced by the upperclassmen.

class of '59...

This year the freshmen cleaned up the campus and some old rumors. The whitewashed facts are now revealed. There is no elevator to the fourth floor—the village has no post office—and seniors “sometimes” are less than perfect.

In addition to these notable contributions to Central life, the freshman class, sponsored by Miss Walker and Mr. Fisher, has been active in student council, pep squad, Hi-Y, Y-Teens, sports, and R. O. T. C. The 395 freshmen form the largest class in a number of years and are represented in Student Council by 15 freshmen and in Pep Squad by 11. Five freshmen Y-Teens and one Hi-Y add to the list of freshmen activities.

On the athletic side of things, 75 freshmen participated in football and football track, and 25 in basketball. Due to the scarcity of gym space, freshmen, out for basketball, practiced at various grade schools after school and entered three teams, made up of squad and non-squad members, in the Saturday morning city league. R. O. T. C. classes increased with the 75 freshmen boys out for football taking an 18-week course in R. O. T. C. between football and track seasons.

Studies also occupied freshmen minds, and library reference rooms filled with busy freshmen planning their future vocations. But three more years at Central still await them. These next years will prove the worth of the Class of '59.

The front bulletin board announces: "Forum Club will meet at 7:30"; FHA members bring cookies for tomorrow's sale"; "Science Fair projects due in three weeks"; "Y-Teen Dance Friday night."

The activities—social, scholastic, and service—which are enjoyed by Central students are varied. But each is important in providing a well-rounded school year and developing well-rounded individuals. Through participation in activities at Central come poignant memories, present enjoyment, and future skills—all important and all gained at Central.
activities...
The president's first call to order, the assignment of homerooms and committees, Homecoming, the Christmas observances, locker clean-ups, Color Day, the All-School Dance, and, finally, election of officers, with the new president accepting the gavel and the responsibility for managing the activities during the next term... this is a year of Student Council. Planned to serve as a link between students and faculty, the Student Council gives Centralites the chance to voice their ideas and opinions, and to see action taken on the ideas and opinions by their own student representatives. With the direction of Mrs. Graham, 40 Council members, with the cabinet and officers, are responsible for running the student supply counter, conducting the book exchange, keeping the halls and campus clean, and sponsoring the dance hall, as well as carrying out the many other projects enjoyed during the year by the student body. To qualify for Student Council membership a candidate must have a grade average of at least an M, must attend a short course on the Council constitution, and must, above all, have the ability to both lead and serve.
student council committees...

1. Noon-hour Committee.
3. Ideals and Ethics Committee.
7. Assembly, Constitution Committee.
8. Safety, Question Box Committee.

"Should Nationalist China be replaced on the Security Council?" Strong voices, raised for and against, prove Forum Club has again touched on a debatable question. The Forum Club's 39 juniors and seniors meet twice a month to "talk out" current problems of both national and international interest but yield the floor on occasion to guest speakers. To be eligible for membership, a student must pass a general U. S. History test, have an "S" average in social studies, and have the recommendation of a social science teacher.

Science Club...

Click-flash! A picture is taken, and for most of us it means the end of a brief "smile-for-the-birdie" moment. But to members of the Camera Club, under the direction of Mr. L. Dowell, photography is an art requiring much thought and technique. Camera Club members also provide Centralites with their noon movies, held each Wednesday.

A brush and palette symbolize art; and art to most Central students means the Brush and Pencil Club. Under the leadership of Miss Hester Robinson, this club provides Central with many of its decorations. Semester banquets for the club and an annual art exhibit by members round out their active year.

“Hamming it up” via amateur radio occupies many hours of time for the 19 Centralites that compose the Radio Club. These boys, sponsored by Mr. Lecl Car- roll, have a licensed club station, WØYPY, and communicate with operators all over the country. Their time “off the air” is filled with code classes and discussions or radio principles.

Girl Scouts—two words synonymous with cookie sales—actually signify much more. This organization, sponsored by Mrs. Louis Walter, has an extensive program of developing practical skills and serving the community. Members participate in civil defense work and Red Cross training, and act as library aids and leaders for intermediate troops and Brownies.

The rap of the gavel has brought Hi-Y members to order both in their individual club meetings and at the meetings of the Hi-Y Youth in Government. Through these experiences the 150 members have grown toward the "high standards of Christian living" set forth by the Hi-Y organization. Y-Teens have not only packed food baskets for the needy, but have packed their weeks with fun and service activities. Participating in Y-Teen Work Day, sponsoring the Y-Teen Review, and adopting needy families, the Y-Teens have worked toward personal development and service to others.

"I want to be a teacher!" This simple statement led to the forming of Central's Future Teachers of America Club. In one year, under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Hash, it has grown considerably in membership. The members learned about the opportunities in teaching and the techniques and qualities of good teaching. Meetings also involved discussions on scholarships and college entrance requirements. This year the club has had concessions at two basketball games and one football game, and cookie and candy sales to raise money for a UNESCO project.

Pots and pans may sound dull, but not to the Future Homemakers of America. Their interest in the home and community life has led them to numerous interesting and profitable projects, carried on through the FHA Club. Meetings provide opportunities for speakers to explain possible projects, which are then undertaken by the girls. This year such programs have dealt with how to make jewelry and hats, and exhibitions of cooking and sewing skills. The club members, under the direction of Miss Frances Lemmon, work for their Junior Homemaking Degrees.
Character, Scholarship, Leadership and Service—these are the qualities each member of National Honor Society must possess. NHS, a purely honorary organization, is composed of 12 old members who were initiated last year and 14 juniors and 26 seniors initiated this year.

Members are selected by a faculty committee, headed by Miss Freda Neal, sponsor, and the active members. The Society’s project is maintenance of the Guidance Library.
"I can't believe it!" says Janice Chelf as she is tapped by NHS member Diane Douglas.

Quill and Scroll—the international high school honorary society for journalists gives recognition to those seniors who have done superior work on the school paper. Members of the Quill and Schroll must apply to the executive secretary of the organization, and are admitted if they rank in the upper third of their class and receive the recommendation of the faculty advisor.

"Bleed that cut! Slash that copy!"
These and other seemingly bloodthirsty cries of the Wakitan editors have emerged from Room 205, where they have drawn layouts, written copy, identified pictures, and struggled with modern art to complete the '56 Wakitan. These students, under the guidance of Mr. Dowell and Mr. Simmons, have "cut" and "slashed" their way, editorially speaking, through the year to bring Central a really different Wakitan to hold the memories of 1956.

2. Mary Sue Richardson, faculty; Norma Schneider, organizations; Sandra Minger, sports.

outlook staff...

To be the "Eyes and Ears" of Central—this is the function of the Outlook, the school paper. In order to fulfill this function, journalism students, with a "nose for news," undertake the responsibility of issuing the paper every two weeks. Under the supervision of Miss Mildred Bringman, the Outlook is planned in detail by these students, from layouts and editing to photography and distribution. And, as each deadline is met, the "eyes and ears" report all aspects of school life to Centralites.

1. Kitty Lehr, editor-in-chief; Dick Lisanbee, managing editor; Mary Ann Gibbins, editor-in-chief.
2. Linda Lewin, Bud Spillman, Nancy Hochman, Pat Welland, first page editors.

“They swing through the air with the greatest of ease,” besides being able to fix a microphone, build a play set, maneuver a spotlight, dream up realistic sound effects, and keep “back-stage” operations running smoothly. The five-man stage crew is largely responsible for the success of all performances of the Central stage.

Directed by Mr. Lecil Carroll, the boys work especially hard during the All-School Play, the Senior Variety Show, and the Christmas program. These “Kings of the Catwalk” are also responsible for managing assemblies, and for being on hand during night programs such as Civic Music and Audubon lectures.

The yellow pass which is delivered to a student during the homeroom period means a job for him and a film for one of the classes in the building some time during the day. The 33 motion picture operators at Central are important in stimulating the use of one of the most modern aids to teaching—“visual education.”

This service group provides trained operators to run the projectors, record players, and recording machines which are used in the classrooms. With the help of Miss Slater, the operators are also responsible for keeping accurate records of all visual aid material used.
“Going once—going twice—and it’s SOLD to the boy in the plaid shirt!” Semi-annual fund-raising auctions are among the many service projects sponsored each year by the Public Service Committee, led by Miss McClanahan.

Composed of a committee member from each homeroom and a board of eight, the Public Service Committee raises funds through auctions and assemblies for the Community Chest, Red Cross, Polio Foundation, Cancer Fund, Heart Fund, Crippled Children’s Organization, and Green Cross. They also furnish volunteer workers to these organizations for such jobs as folding stamps, addressing envelopes, and making favors.

help us...

When five short bells warn “Fire drill!” the first people into action are the 38 homeroom fire chiefs. Each chief, under the direction of Mr. Wilkinson, goes immediately to the post assigned to him at the beginning of the semester and remains there until the “all clear” signal is given.

To make the monthly drills run smoothly, a fire chief is posted at each outside entrance to hold the door, and one is assigned to check each part of the building to be certain it has been completely evacuated. When their jobs have been completed, the chiefs report to the head fire chief, who in turn must make a report of the drill to the main office.

Books and more books fill Central's library and take up the time of the library staff. The staff, which assists Miss McClanahan, librarian, in her duties, delivers passes for overdue books, works behind the desk issuing books to students, and repairs torn volumes.

Many are the details that must be attended to before Wakis are placed in the waiting hands of Centralites, and the Wakan staff takes care of a number of them. The major tasks of the staff are the ordering and delivering of Wakis and the supervising of group pictures.

Two hundred fifty lbs. of potatoes—780 bottles of milk—14 gallons of peas and beets! The cafeteria staff and workers see to the making and distributing of this great amount of food—needed to feed the Central Indians. In addition to cooking and baking for daily lunches, the cafeteria staff prepares special meals for school organizations’ banquets.

Work to be done! Central’s custodians and engineer are busy people. They are responsible for keeping Central clean—its halls, its rooms, its windows, its auditorium and gym. The engineer must see that the building is adequately ventilated and heated. The snow must be shoveled and the grass cut—work to be done!

Ninety-five sophomore and junior girls each day work through an hour of musical exercises, religious music, and novelty numbers. Founder's Day meeting.

This year the Choir has performed for the Lions Club, Rotary Club,

From “Pomp and Circumstance” to “Central Will Shine,” the Central Band has music for all occasions. Under the direction of Mr. Allan Bing, the Band has had ample opportunity this year to use its music. Performances have included three city parades, the R. O. T. C Inspection, two city basketball games, the football game at North Kansas City, formations at halftime on Central’s field, and two assemblies for the student body. The Band also performed additional services at school—music for the opening exercises at assemblies, the Queen Coronation, Baccalaureate, and Commencement. The Pep Band kept up school spirit at the games and at pep assemblies, and played for the Women's A. U. U. games and the Kiwanis Club. The majorettes exhibited their fancy steps at parades and at football half-times.

Action! From the pile-up on the football field to the smooth perfection of a rash pitch; from the wild frenzy of a close basketball game to the tense precision of an R.O.T.C. inspection; from the G.A.A. ping-pong tournament to the Pony Express Conference track meet, Centralites have enjoyed action. They have learned to enjoy this action in the game and from the bench; they have learned to lead and follow; they have learned to win and lose. And they have learned that the blue and white are colors to be proud of. Action to enjoy, defeats to accept, and triumphs to remember - these are a vital part of Central.

The stadium was packed, the crowd was cheering, and Central was winning the game! By the time the 1955 season was over, this had become a familiar scene. Central’s football team had one of its most successful years—winning the City Championship and coming in second in the Pony Express Conference.

Central started the season right by winning the Jamboree with 35 points, Blakely scoring five times. After a loss to Sedalia, the team went on to win six straight games. One of the most thrilling endings was supplied in the last minute and fifty seconds of the Atchison game when John Ullery caught a twelve-yard touchdown pass thrown by Bob Krumme. The Lafayette game saw Jerry Thompson make three touchdowns, and the Wentworth game gave everyone the ball. Blakely, Krumme and Ullery made two touchdowns apiece. Taylor and Hesselschwerdt assisted with one each. The defensive team starred in the William Chrisman game; the City Grid Crown was won in the game with Benton.

Many Central players received individual recognition—Thompson, Lisenbee and Potts were named to the All-City Team; Ullery, Potts and Lisenbee were named to the PEC Conference Team; and R. E. Potts was named to the All-District, All-State and Honorable Mention of the All-American teams.

Recognition is also due to Central’s coaching staff. With 200 boys out for football and two city championships, won by the Varsity and Reserve Squads, Coaches John Gibson, Byron Baker, Howard Iba, and Lin Wright deserve our acclaim.

“Basket, basket, basket, boys!” Enthusiastic yells and cheers, tense excitement and action and more action on the court—this is a basketball game. Central’s 1956 basketball team, having a slow starting season, ended the year in this truly dramatic style; with action, cheers and much excitement.

The Regional Tournament was the scene of the season’s dramatic ending. A decided underdog, the Central team played its way into the finals defeating Trenton and Liberty in two hard-won and hard-fought games. The final game with Christian Brothers was drama at its height with the decision being won by Christian Brothers in the last few minutes of the game.

Forty-two boys played on the varsity and reserve teams and 25 freshmen practiced each afternoon with Coach Day at the Everett grade school gym. Other freshmen joined them to form 4 teams for the Saturday Morning City League.

John Ullery was named to the All-City and All-Conference basketball teams.

track and baseball . . .

The Central track team ran, threw and jumped its way through six track meets during the 1955 season, taking first place in the City Meet and second in the Pony Express Conference Meet. John Ullery reigned as high point man of the P.E.C. Meet where he and Ray Sisson both broke Conference low hurdle records. Ullery and Sisson were further honored by being placed on the All-State Track Team.

About 200 boys are active during track season, participating in the running events which include the 220 dash, the half mile run, and the mile relay; in the jumping events, such as the broad jump and the high jump; and in throwing the shot put and the discus.

From the umpire’s first “Play ball!” of the season to the final out of the last game, the Central baseball team compiled a record of four wins and two losses. Since there is no high school baseball league in this area, scheduling games for the team became a big problem, and Central was faced with only two teams during the season. The six games resulted in the following scores:

G.A.A. - a sport for every girl. With sports ranging from baseball, volleyball and basketball, which require careful teamwork, to bowling, badminton and swimming, which call for individual skills, every Central girl is given the opportunity to participate in athletics. Through this participation the girls develop more healthy bodies and more healthy attitudes toward others.

All Central girls are eligible to try a hand with the tennis racket, the hockey stick, the bow and arrow, the "tramp," or any of the other sports equipment offered in the G.A.A. program. Points are given for participation in each sport, and awards are made to the girls receiving a sufficient number. These awards include a chenille "C", a "C" pin and the highest award, a trophy.

The G.A.A. girls have "gone to bat" many times throughout the year with projects from which the whole student body has benefited. With the same enthusiasm they take in nabbing the fly ball that cinches a softball game, the girls have compiled the Student Directory and taken charge of the Basketball Queen Coronation. Beside holding a tea for freshman girls and sponsoring an annual G.A.A. Banquet, they also serve at the Boy's "C" Club Banquet. Among the activities which score highest with the girls are holding a regional Play Day and attending Play Days out of town.

By teaching girls to both lead and follow, and by giving them a lasting interest in sports, the G.A.A. is preparing them for active and well-rounded futures.

"Ten hut!" At this command 180 cadets straighten to attention with all the discipline of the U.S. Army. Members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, the cadets at Central learn all about the army, its drill, weapons, ranks, and discipline. But R.O.T.C. is more than "army." It is an opportunity to learn the traditions and history of our country, customs and courtesy in and out of the army, and basic lessons in hygiene and first-aid. It is a training ground for 180 boys to develop their abilities both to command effectively and follow directions. The Batallion Staff, an organization of the highest cadet officers, issues lesson plans and promotion orders. Under the supervision of Sgt. Halverson, the Staff is the head of the complex R.O.T.C. organization, consisting of three companies with two platoons in each company and four squads per platoon. Other R.O.T.C. groups are the Rifle Team, which won the city championship, and the Sponsor Officers, who are elected by the battalion and assist in ticket-selling events.

I have guided you through Central—shown you her halls, her classrooms, her activities, her people.

The year is over. Central of '56 will never be the same. Some have left, never to return again; never to walk her halls; never to file in her classrooms, meet in her clubs, or fight for Central.

The year is gone. Only memories remain—moments to remember—the crowning of a queen; the all-school dance, the spirit of pep assemblies; the prom; graduation—these will linger from 1956.

I remain—Central’s Indian—the spirit of your school.
