We are students of Central High,
Not a dull minute goes by.
It's a wonder we remain sane,
We live life in the fast lane.
We have to make a passing grade,
So our futures can be made.
There are sports and assemblies, too,
There are so many things to do.
Wanting to leave, wanting to stay,
Wishing for more time a day.
A spare moment is very rare,
We are in "The Spotlight's" glare.
Seniors
We are the upperclassmen here,
Ready to end our last year.
So many friends we'll leave behind,
Thoughts of the future in mind.
Our Senior year did come and pass,
We accomplished quite a task.
Part of us will be left behind,
We don't know what we may find.
We paid our dues of work and tests,
We only hope we did our best.
We now know how to read and write,
We have left "The Spotlight."
Our second year at Central, wow!
We have bigger lockers now.
Our girls all turn to "Sweet 16."
For some now the dating scene.
Recall Fridays at Burger King?
Weekends waiting for a ring?
Preparing our minds to go on,
A few friends have "dropped" and gone.
Having so much wisdom to learn,
Not knowing which way to turn.
Trapped between beginning and end,
'Till "The Spotlight" comes again.
The Junior Class of eighty-three
Show spirit for all to see.
Selling buttons on Friday morn,
Visions of our prom are born.
We now know how to drive a car,
We are trying to go far.
Part of the burden we must bear,
We hope soon we will be there.
Getting ready for that last year,
Far away, but yet so near.
Doing things never done before,
Nearing "The Spotlight" once more.
The Freshman Class, now aren't we cool?
Graduates of middle school,
The youngest class of Central High,
We made many a new tie.
At assemblies we showed our pep,
In the halls we watched our step.
The upperclassmen taught us fast,
Those mem'ries will always last.
We are the underclassmen here,
Ready for our sophomore year.
To them we no longer will bow,
We have passed "The Spotlight" now.
Freshmen
Ambassadors of Central High,
Don't let moments just slip by.
When our homework is finally done,
We go out and have some fun.
We cruise around town with our dates,
Checking latest movie rates.
We have so little time for sleep,
But lots of dreams we will keep.
We do not have much time for play,
Always wishing for next May.
We are constantly on the go,
In "The Spotlight's" afterglow.

Parade Lifts School Spirit

Jersey, Toga, Dress-up, Color, and Punk Rock Days fired up Central's spirit during the week of Homecoming. A Homecoming parade of club banners and Mercedes carrying the attendants and the Queen circled the field before the game against Lee's Summit. The Centralites also enjoyed the tiger effigy, set aflame by Queen Sherri Taylor.
Teams consisting of two girls and two boys from each class sold candy during the week of Wampumpeag. The Sophomore team sold more candy than any other team on record in Central's history collecting $1260 of the total $4500 in candy sales. Some of the games included balloon popping, tire rolling, and Simon Says. In the end seniors proved victorious. Student Body Treasurer Lynne Vaughn commented, "Wampumpeag brought out class unity in the activities, and the spirit throughout really made the games go well."
1. Jeff Newey and Amy Haynes clean up after competing. 2. Nanette Nicholas, Debbie Parker, Todd Aldrich and Brain Hoffman compose the Senior Money Maker Team. 3. Sophomore team members are Captain Ann Smith, Michelle Williams, Shane Gentry, and Jim Geha. 4. Waiting to begin popping balloons is Freshman Rhonda Backes. 5. Junior Chris Stevenson receives candy for his team. 6. Seniors John Toner and Jerry Lyon are the Bliss Brothers. 7. Cheryl Silkett, Rhonda Backes, Eric Eaton, and Kirk Arthur represent the Freshman “Foxes” at the Money Maker Games. 8. The Junior team consists of Jeff Newey, Captain Amy Haynes, Sheri Bucher, and Ray Smith.
Variety Shown In Assemblies

Assemblies, ranging from the senior - Faculty basketball game to the Freedom Jam concert, provided the student body with entertainment. Other assemblies included the Mime Troupe, which performed with the St. Joseph Symphony Orchestra, the one-act plays, and the Queen Coronations. Freshman Mary Divine commented, "I really liked them. They broke the monotony at school."
Pep Assemblies Arouse Spirit

Cheers, chants, dances, and songs kept the momentum running strong at pep assemblies. Students' participation in the Indian battle cry exhibited their school spirit. The pep band added excitement to the pep assemblies while pom-pon girls and cheerleaders displayed and led school spirit by dancing and cheering. Freshman Blake Winder commented, "I like pep assemblies because you can yell and scream and sit with your friends."
1. Showing interest at a pep assembly is Tegwin Ehlert.
2. The Pep Band boosts spirit at a pep assembly.
3. The football coach, Roger Grunwald, speaks on behalf of the team.
4. Enthusiastic Juniors answer battle cry.
5. Spirited cheerleaders show support for teams.
6. Pom Pon Girls dance to the music.
Students Send Candy Grams

The Christmas season kept students busy with extra school activities. Homerooms that wished to challenge each other for parties joined in these activities by decorating their doors. A large number of students participated by sending candy bars, stockings, and cards through a mail service. Juniors and Seniors added touches of Christmas to the Gazebo, while Freshmen and Sophomores decorated the Freshman Annex. Student Body President Brad Haggard commented, "The Christmas party that Senate gave the CRU children really made Christmas complete."
1. Ty Miller reads his mail-o-grams during second hour. 2. Brenda Euler and Tracie Breckenridge enjoy their party in the Sophomore office. 3. Freshmen participate in a Christmas party. 4. Heidi Enlert and Angle Taylor take time to send candy grams for Christmas. 5. Decorating the Christmas tree in the Gazebo are Jimmy Burris, David Lau and Jenny Preble. 6. Mrs. Virginia Frazier's homeroom class promotes Christmas spirit by decorating its door.
Homecoming Game Lost By A Point

Even though a snow day cancelled school on the Friday of Homecoming, Central played Lafayette as scheduled. Due to the snow day, Queen Coronation took place the following Monday. Homecoming week consisted of Indian, Hawaiian, Super-Hero, and the traditional Color and Dress-Up days. In addition to other Homecoming activities, Senate held a dance in the school cafeteria the Saturday after the game in honor of Winter Snow frost Queen Sandy Lincoln.
1. Lynne Vaughn, Darcy Downer, Sandy Lincoln, Debbie Parker, and crown bearer John Kelly await their entrance for the Snow frost Queen Coronation. 2. Sandy Lincoln and David Lau "Go Hawaiian" during Homecoming Week. 3. Steve Petty and Becky Kurz participate in Super Hero Day. 4. Leaving the Homecoming Dance are John Gamper, Jenny Coyne, and Scott Rubinstein. 5. Preparing for Coronation are Robin Bashor, Jean Wilson, and Linda Piluck. 6. Allison Gann takes a break during play practice. 7. Rhonda Eaton and Tony Rake create the shirts for "Oklahoma."
'Oklahoma' Chosen For '82 Musical

For the second time, the musical 'Oklahoma' appeared on the Central High School stage making its debut in 1968. Student directors, David Alchin, Karen Burns, Mary Drake, Kendal Kater, Bruce Loveless, and Marilee Steeb, helped to guide the crews and committees. The stage crew took the responsibility for building the sets, and the light crew created and controlled the lighting effects during the performance. These crews, along with various others, dedicated twenty to twenty-five hours a week after school to assure an excellent production. Student director David Alchin commented, "The production staff worked well together. We had a lot of fun."
1. Curly (Jim Carrithers) and Judd (Bret Halsey) practice a scene in the smokehouse. 2. Will Parker (Stan Griggs) creates an image of Kansas City to his friends. 3. Ada Anne (Allyson Gann) prepares for her solo, "I Can't Say No." 4. Curly (Jim Carrithers) performs his solo in Act II. 5. Curly (Jim Carrithers) and Laurey (Mimi Antes) sing, "People Will Say We're in Love." 6. Maria Lopez creates makeup for Judd (Ty Miller). 7. The peddler (Greg Butchart) sells Laurey (Jenny Hamilton) a bottle of Elixir of Egypt. (Some photos by Tom Andresen)
Thom Produces 18th Musical

The cast, crews, and orchestra worked many hours to make the '82 musical a success. 'Oklahoma' centered around two cowhands, Curly (Jim Carrithers) and Judd (Ty Miller and Brett Halsey), who fell in love with the same girl, Laurey (Jenny Hamilton and Mimi Antes). Director Mrs. Colleen Thom commented, "The enthusiasm and dedication from everyone involved in the production started with the tryouts and kept up the momentum until the final curtain call. Certainly this is rewarding for directors and comes across to the audience."
Seniors Give It Their All

On the thirteenth and fourteenth of November, the Senior Class presented the Senior Revue of '82, "The Greatest Show on Earth." In the best tradition of P. T. Barnum, colorful vendors sold refreshments, and circus animals paraded down the aisles. Emcees Mimi Antes, Darcy Downer, Stan Griggs, and Bev Jones introduced the thirteen acts, which displayed a wide range of talents. "They were not only talented but they gave 100% of their energy," commented Ms. Paulette Manville.
Committees Pull Through

Not only did the Senior Revue take place out on the stage, but also behind the curtains. Producing a show like the Revue took the cooperation of many committees including lights, publicity, ticket, and stage crew.

No Revue could take place without the crews, directed by Ms. Paulette Manville and Senior Directors Carol Gibbs, Judith Meade, Bruce Mullican, Karen Giesenagen, Tim Ramsey, and Denise Smalley. Practicing six hours a day for four weeks made it possible to earn the $192.37 it took to meet expenses.
1. Playing the trombone to "When The Saints Go Marching In" is Steve Petty.
2. Cast and Crew of the Senior Revue gather for a curtain call.
3. The last performer before curtain call is Allyson Gann singing "You'll Never Walk Alone."
4. Beverly Jones, Darcy Downer, Stan Griggs, and Mimi Antes prepare to introduce the next act.
5. Mimi Antes complains about circus life to Darcy Downer and Beverly Jones.
6. Debbie Vandeveer questions Beth Burris on the biology of frogs in "The Court."
Academics
"It is like a basketball player; if they receive good encouragement, they continue practicing to get better. Winning awards made me want to pursue the creativity of art," commented art teacher Charles Taylor in reference to winning first place in a national competition while a sophomore at Central. Art students learned many forms of art. They also learned the history of art, did drawings, and worked on various projects throughout the year. These projects ranged from pop art to wall murals.
1. Mr. Taylor assists Tony Rake in making a life-size sculpture. 2. Rusty Myers receives a helping hand while finishing his pop art. 3. Dennis Mouser concentrates on pottery. 4. Posing for Art I students is Joe Nold. 5. Art II student Gall Grable works on a linoleum block. 6. Frankie Till and Marsha Huntsman prepare a silk screen. 7. Rolando Lerit, Linda Noblet, and Dana Wigfield prepare to paint.
IA Helpful For Students' Futures

"Every student needs some kind of IA training even if he is going to college," commented industrial art teacher Ken Wilkinson. According to Wilkinson tools can be used in just about any occupation. IA students learned how to use the tools and processes which will effect them in their future careers. They made various projects to gain experience. The projects also created concrete results that the students could take home.
1. Tony Bish searches for tools. 2. John Karns and David Umphress spend extra time inspecting a motor. 3. Drafting student Tony Berry puts finishing touches on a drawing. 4. Ty Miller concentrates on his drafting. 5. Taking a lid off of an air filter is Dwayne Medley. 6. Tim Kelley enjoys working in class.
Hillyards Moves To New Building

"I enjoy going to Hillyards because of the freedom that I have there. It also gave a bigger choice of classes," remarked Senior Kristi Perriman. One hundred and thirty-eight juniors and seniors from Central spent three hours each day at Hillyards learning vocational skills such as auto body repairs and data processing. Thirteen students participated in the Youth Education Training Program at Hillyards. The school moved to a new location at 36th Street and Faraon at the beginning of the second semester.

2. David Russell sets his lathe.
3. One car keeps several students busy in the Auto Body class.
4. Ron Schultz and Mark Goacher take a Data Processing test.
5. Students enjoy more space and new surroundings for working in a machine shop.
6. Mr. Gary Ray assists Kelly Grace in adjusting the feed on a printing machine.
7. Doug Sale and Kevin Schalley work on a fender.
Confidence Gained In Speech Classes

Students involved with Central's speech program kept busy by developing their oratory skills. One objective of the course centered on gaining self-confidence. To develop oratory skills and confidence, students spoke in front of the class, wrote radio commercials, acted out scenes from plays, and told stories. "Speech is a great class. It has helped me with talking in front of people, and it will also help in my future career plans," commented Chris Lacquement. Interested students competed in 12 tournaments including NFL, District, State, and Conference competitions.
1. Richard Roberts and Zane Ann Miller help each other with an assignment. 2. Bruce Loveless and Denise Smalley prepare their duet for a tournament. 3. Speech II students prepare for a tournament. 4. Karen Giesenhagen works on a timekeeper’s chart at Conference Competition. 5. First hour speech students listen to a radio commercial. 6. Liz Dielderich practices her storytelling selection.
"Debate class has given me poise and self-confidence," senior Bruce Mullican commented. In Debate I and II students competed at 11 tournaments in the novice, regular, and championship levels. Debaters participated in either teams consisting of two people or individually, referred to as Lincoln-Douglas Debate. Debate teacher Mr. David Bailey stressed preparation skills such as carding evidence, writing speeches, and communicating with an audience.
1. Bruce Loveless presents his argument while Tim Ramsay finds evidence. 2. Dominique Day reads her opening speech for a Lincoln-Douglas debate. 3. Jeff Woods observes as Ted Corless discusses his case with Mr. David Bailey. 4. Richard (Buddy) Means answers Bruce Mullican's questions during cross-examination. 5. Plotting their strategy are freshmen Ted Corless and Phil Hatten. 6. Roslyn Levine and Paul Giesenhagen study their file of evidence cards. 7. Comparing their plan attacks are Sharon Morse and Morgan Jones.
1. Mrs. Colleen Thorn waits with her drama students for the next in-class pantomime.
2. Jody Kilgore portrays a thief in her musical pantomime.
3. Demonstrating his skill imitating a tightrope walker is Ray Tillier.
4. Carla Humbard instructs her invisible flea circus.
5. Drama students enjoy working with visiting grade school students.
6. Kelly Wiegant aids her young partner in a game.
7. Nanette Nicholas dances in drama class.
Drama Experiences
World Of Theater

Where did many students keep busy learning how to direct, act, use lighting, set stages, choose costumes, apply makeup, and design a set? Four different hours of drama classes, consisting of juniors and seniors, provided the chance for students to become familiar with theatrical procedures. Each hour included both first- and second-year drama students. Drama helped people learn to accept responsibility while working on a group effort.
Many Performances Keep Drama Busy

Drama students, active in both one-act plays and the mime troupe, kept busy with a number of performances. Each class provided entertainment for the student body by presenting a selected one-act. The one-acts included "Say Uncle," "Mime Works," "Sure As You're Born," and "The Chips Are Down." These plays involved 125 students. Mime troupe which included 81 students, gave several different performances. Mime troupe performed at Central, the Civic Arena, and Molla Country Club. Many drama students also chose to participate in the all-school play "Oklahoma."
1. Mixed Choir I sings at the annual Fall Concert.
2. Performing some selections are Mixed Choir II members. 3. Choir students strengthen their stomach muscles by doing exercises. 4. Sherie Hestand, Teresa Rodewald, and Bari Grayson share sheet music during rehearsal. 5. Mr. Schneider leads Mixed Choir II in warm-up drills. 6. Dana Rake helps Mr. Schneider take role. 7. Accompanying Concert Choir are Marilee Steeb and Allison Gann.
Singers Entertain With Their Music

What did you hear while walking by room 52m? Lots of singing. Depending on the hour of the day, songs could be heard coming from either Chorus, Mixed Choir, or Concert Choir. These groups sang songs from those of the Renaissance period to those of Contemporary times. The calendar of events for the singing groups included a Christmas concert of "Nutcracker Suite," a spring concert with a collection from "Fame," and a number of other vocal concerts. Maintaining quality types of performances was a primary goal of the singing groups according to Director Tom Schneider.
Choir Adds To Xmas Spirit

Christmas carols, sung by Concert choir in the halls and offices, encouraged the Christmas spirit at Central. Susan Lang, a junior who caroled with the group, commented, “Carolimg helped me to feel much more cheerful.”
Directors Form Full Orchestra

The key goal of Directors Larry Bolton and Martin Bergee rested in combining the strings and the band to form a full orchestra. Both groups participated in activities such as the all-school play, concerts and competitions while strings alone offered their services to various organizations like YMCA dinners, school board, and church functions.

1. Choir members listen as Jenny Hamilton sings a Christmas carol. 2. Choir students prepare to sing by doing bending exercises. 3. Shawn Coder does warm-up stretches before choir practice. 4. The flag corps practices its routine. 5. Barry Schelham and Bob Yeell concentrate on playing their scales. 6. Band members practice formations outside the school. 7. Practicing his bass is Bill Lytton. 8. Mr. Tom Schneider directs concert choir during a fall performance.
1. Mr. Martin Bargee directs fourth hour band members. 2. Marching Band rehearses outside of the school building. 3. Starr Tuills and Jerry Lyon play in the brass section. 4. Band members wait for directions during practice. 5. Composing part of the French horn section is Janet Flesher and Edward Walaski. 6. Playing the clarinet is Miles Smith. Sherri Kendall and Terri Hoecker concentrate on playing their flutes.
Band Groups Show Musical Interest

Band members, composed of all musically inclined students, contributed many extra hours participating and playing their instruments in several places. The members demonstrated their techniques at football games, parades, concerts, competitions, and the all-school play. "They are what put us over the top, with the work they put in," expressed play director Mrs. Colleen Thom. Pep band, freshman band, concert and stage band, orchestra, quartets, and jazz ensembles comprised the different divisions in which band members participated.
1. Barbara Maris and Laura Johnson take notes from a class film. 2. Lynn Britsco prepares to sew. 3. Sharon Duckworth cuts out her pattern. 4. Jim Carrithers concentrates on threading a needle. 5. Marla Phillips works on home ec notes. 6. Cherie Miller presses the seams on her sewing project.
Home Ec Provides Helpful Experience

Amidst the humming of the sewing machines and the buzzing of stove timers, Home Economic students learned the fundamentals of home life. Home Ec involved more than simple cooking and sewing. Students also concentrated on family relations and child development. Although some feel Home Ec exists primarily for girls, boys remained interested and involved. Senior Bob Michaels commented, “Home Ec isn’t exactly what I expected, but it is helping to prepare me for when I live by myself.”
Business Electives Expand In Number

Two-thirds of all elective courses offered to students involved various types of business. The major portion of these classes included skills generally associated with secretarial duties. A few of these classes included typing, shorthand, and two-hour courses of clerical and secretarial practice. Other courses covered many different aspects of the business world. These classes ranged from general business to practical business or distributive education. Many students also chose to take bookkeeping or accounting. Accounting II joined the list of the business classes as a new course offered to students.
1. Kevin Wells concentrates on his accounting. 2. Lisa Flugrad centers her typing paper. 3. Eric Fuson works with the adding machine. 4. Harold Davidson searches for the right keys early in the year. 5. Les Gibson and Sherri Bryant work on their typing drills. 6. Debbie Schildknecht puts the finishing touch on her typing assignment. 7. Janet Meyer pauses from her accounting studies.
Math Competitions Provide Challenge

Math teachers chose students who maintained good grades in their classes to compete in the Missouri Mathematics Leagues (MOML) competitions. These students studied courses ranging from Algebra I and II through geometry and trigonometry. Central students, from freshmen to seniors, competed against other schools located in this county. When asked why he took the tests, senior Brian Eaton replied, "because they're interesting and very challenging to me."
1. Paying attention in Mr. James Ozenberger's Algebra II class is Brad Wright. 2. Renee Hecker and Landon Hoecker listen intently during math class. 3. Dana Bell takes notes in her Algebra I class. 4. Jenny East, Mike Gentry, and Todd Lehman write down their math assignment. 5. Doug Mead begins to work on his assignment. 6. Students take notes during Algebra. 7. Mr. James Ozenberger instructs his algebra class.
Science Generates Student Incentive

What did Albert Einstein and several Central students have in common? Mainly, an interest in science. Science courses at Central included general science, biology, chemistry, and physics. Many students took more than the one required course. Jennifer Barton, a fourth year science student, commented, "I took science because it challenges me and is an incentive to work. I like finding things out for myself."
1. Dianne Stober examines her lab work. 2. Mr. Bill McLaughlin lectures to his chemistry class. 3. Mike Ziegler and Cindy Despain discuss a science magazine. 4. Stacy Culp and Holly Gentry discuss the items on the bulletin board. 5. Scott Simmons and Jay Myers study for a biology test. 6. Working on her biology assignment is Cindy Clardy. 7. Kevin Staley, Kris McKinney, and Pam Feurt look over their biology book.
Nelson Honored For Experiment

Science Investigations provided an opportunity for nine seniors and two juniors to advance and utilize their knowledge. Students conducted experiments for competition in the Missouri Junior Academy of Science, Mid-America Regional Science and Engineering Fair, and the Junior Science Engineering and Humanities Symposium. Senior Janet Nelson's experiment with black walnuts won the Westinghouse Award. Sponsor Mr. Bill McLaughlin commented, "Alumni agreed that Science Investigations increased their knowledge about science and also increased their academic maturity."

72 - In The Spotlight
“The goal is to help the student develop the skills of creative writing at his or her own rate and particular field of interest,” said Advisor Mrs. Virginia Frazier. To qualify, the eleven participants in the Gifted and Talented Creative Writing Program submitted three pieces of writing and scored in the 95 percentile on a standardized test. The young authors sent their writing to several regional and national competitions. They also studied trade magazines to discover possible markets for publication.
1. Craig Nauman and Doug Field keep busy in class. 2. Craig Barr searches the newspaper during English. 3. Dawn Peters waits to give her oral presentation. 4. Michelle Merdock relaxes with a book. 5. John Wypert and Cheryl Dulac work diligently on their assignment. 6. Becky Holtsclaw prepares to do her class work. 7. Chris Early presents his oral book report in class.
English Emphasizes Individual Writing

English consisted of much more than improving students’ grammar or identifying sentence parts. It released creativity in students who enjoyed writing. Like art students using brushes and paints to enhance a picture, English students used pen and paper to develop an image. The freshman and sophomores unfolded perfect examples of emerging creative people. Their assignments ranged from spelling tests to oral book reports. Freshman English teacher Mrs. Beverly Smith commented, "The students develop an awareness of being a person with something worth communicating and through written and oral mediums learn to communicate more effectively."
1. Upperclassmen listen to a historic presentation about women writers. 2. Nanette Jensen relaxes during class. 3. Monique Duvall, Reyna Kallauner and Missy Mullanax discuss pilgrim-patriot day. 4. Linda Pittuck plays a role in English Literature. 5. Juniors work on assignments. 6. Mrs. Frazier helps her English Literature students.
Upperclassmen Work To Master English

Juniors and seniors prepared for the future by further developing their reading and writing abilities. English classes helped in this preparation. Juniors in Language Arts III reviewed traditional grammar taught in Language Arts I and II. They also read such books as The Scarlet Letter and studied a wide variety of American authors.

Seniors, although not required to take an English course, could choose from three classes. English Literature, a college preparatory class, covered writings from the early Anglo-Saxon period to those of modern times. Composition allowed students to concentrate on creative and free writing. Language Arts IV, the other class offered to seniors, stressed the development of vocabulary and effective sentence structure. By working hard, juniors and seniors continued to gain a better knowledge of English skills.
1. Kenny Gammon, Galen Bonham, and Tim Markle work on their history assignment. 2. Jeff Powell operates the film projector. 3. Andi Antes and Vicky Colby take American History notes. 4. Working on her history is Julie Stephenson. 5. Scott Gilcrest, Kathleen Hare, and Jeff McFall compare notes before a test. 6. Sophomores Mike Chavez and Janey Robertson read their history assignments. 7. Reading her lesson is Alison Corken.
Focusing On Past Brightens Future

A major goal of freshman and sophomore history classes consisted of focusing on the past to avoid making similar mistakes in the future. The freshmen students learned about American history from the pilgrims and Plymouth rock to the 60’s riots. The sophomores studied either world history, dealing with how civilization began and evolved, or ancient and medieval history which detailed the cultures that shaped today’s society. Mrs. Katherine Geyer, an American history teacher, stated, “I find history a fascinating subject, and I particularly like working with young people.”
Upperclassmen See History’s Rewards

"Government helps me realize how state and national governments operate," commented Senior Ed Reed. Government, a required course, involved all seniors for one semester. Government taught history at state and national levels. Several students learned history dealing with domestic and foreign affairs in International Relations. Other courses, available to both juniors and seniors, ranged from economics to geography. Juniors involved in the honors program studied Modern and Contemporary History.
1. Seniors learn the principles of American Government.
2. Tina Linn, Rod Plexer, and Kristy Shortle work on an assignment in class.
3. Ron Scholtz takes notes while listening to Mr. James George.
4. Scott Zweierink and Doug Phillips read the newspaper in Recent American History.
5. Shelly Smith catches up on current events.
6. Jim Oswald completes his test in Mr. George's American Government class.
1. Studying together are Terrie Roberts and Karen McCrory. 2. John Holub relaxes between classes. 3. Wally Bennett answers questions in his workbook. 4. Reynaldo Leff finds his textbook helpful. 5. Discussing their class work are Terry Hill and Calvin Mudd. 6. Patty Edwards concentrates on her math assignment. 7. Mike Valentine finds his calculator useful in doing math.
Students Get Credit For Jobs

Thirty-four students occupied this class. These students studied many of the same courses covered by other students. The courses included history, math, English, typing, and gym. The junior and senior students, as well as other students over the age of 16, spent school hours on the job. These jobs made up part of a statewide program which enabled children and young adults to work.

Their jobs served as credit earning courses. Juniors spent half a day at work while seniors worked the whole day. Mike Eastwood, a junior who worked at Wyatts, commented that his working gave him "motivation to advance to higher places."
French Students Become Carolers

French students not only learned the language, but they also studied customs, traditions, life styles, and history of the French. Students used their new language in many ways, including Christmas caroling in the mall.

1. French students sing Christmas carols in the East Hills Mall. 2. Brenda Nicholas performs a solo. 3. Mrs. Melanie Adams prepares for her fifth hour class. 4. Julie Lang, Penny Stephen and Lisa Benge visit before French class. 5. Scott Zweerink reads his German assignment in class. 6. Eric Cook concentrates on learning his German. 7. German students prepare to take notes from a televised lecture. 8. Fifth hour German students begin another day of German class.
German Classes Absorb Language

German students achieved a varying degree of fluency in German communication and grammar. Pupils also enjoyed the benefits of cultural enrichment through learning about Germany's heritage and artistic events. This year, Instructor William Mier used the educational television show Guten Tag (Good Day) to help his classes with their studies. "The shows are valuable," he said, "because the students can have the benefits of modern educational methods."
Latin Helps With English

Classes became a "classical adventure" to Latin students. Students in their first and second years of Latin concentrated on learning vocabulary while third and fourth year students translated parts of the Aeneid and Iliad. All the students used their knowledge to widen their use of English words.

86 - In the Spotlight
Spanish Tape Aids Classes

Spanish students focused on listening, speaking, and reading in a variety of activities. Classroom work emphasized using a tape recorder along with the textbook. Classes studied Spanish at four different levels, all with a goal for better understanding of the spoken and written language.
1. Honor guard members respond to Commander Paul Rose's order, "On Guard." 2. The Drum and Bugle Corps members are Eric Sharp, Paul Tannheimer, Elton Shepherd, Don Correa, Eric Reents, and Chris Carrillo. 3. Concentrating on the marching drill is Danny Bunch. 4. ROTC Queen Sheila Gross poses at the annual ball. 5. ROTC students take a break after school. 6. The Battalion Staff includes Lisa Gray, Lori Jackson, Jennifer Rose, Heidi Mattson, Danny Bunch, Doug Chilcote, Bill Puett, and Todd Gray. 7. Color Guard consists of Loma Davidson, Robert Daniels, Patty Caw, and Becky Coffman.

(See index for other group pictures)
ROTC Focuses on Different Abilities

"ROTC attempts to develop leadership and citizenship qualities in students," sophomore Todd Gray remarked. ROTC encompassed a wide variety of courses focusing on practical knowledge in subjects such as first aid and oral communications. Active students also volunteered much time and energy to Rifle Team, Color Guard, Drum and Bugle Corps, Military Police, Individual Drill Regulation, and Honor Guard. The Honor Guard competed in drills and shooting matches in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, and the Annual ROTC Review.
Variety Available To Gym Students

What do aerobics, dancing, bowling, and softball have in common? All could be found on a list of activities available to gym students. Freshman students spent one semester in PE and the other studying health. Sophomores remained active in PE for the entire year. Students exempted from gym classes included those involved in two sports during their sophomore year.

Indians Catch Kewpies Looking The Other Way

"We felt as if we had just won the Super Bowl," said Mac Horn as he reflected memories of defeating Columbia Hickman. The Indians caught the Kewpies off guard for the first time since 1942, during their fall homecoming! Captains Scott Haeker and David Lau contributed leadership as the football team captured the City title and remained unscored against during the Jamboree. The team voted to give Brad Sprong the John Gibson Award.
1. Doug Grooms slips away from oncoming defense. 2. Tom Squires dodges defensive attack. 3. Ripping through the banner at the Central-LeBlond game are Scott Haeker and Kevin Wells. 4. Freshman Warriors
Tackle 6-0 Season

Under the direction of first-year Central coaches Jon Heermann and Bill Wilson, the newly formed freshman football team hustled onto the field to capture an undefeated season. Rating highly on basic fundamentals allowed the team to spend more time in other areas. Only once did their perfect record look threatened as the team faced Chillicothe. Trailing by 8 points going into the fourth quarter, the team pulled together and beat the Hornets 32-28. Coach Heermann expressed, "The kids knew we won as a team, not as individuals, and that everyone had to contribute in order to be successful."

Changes took place for the Junior Varsity players as the sophomores joined their team. Sophomore runningback Tim McKay commented, "It was quite an experience competing with older players, it benefited us both." The team compiled a 3-5 record. Outstanding players included Steve Bell, Tim McKay, Brad Cole, Todd Anderson, Scott Cochran, Richard Roberts, and Chris Casebeer.
Team Attends State 7th Consecutive Year

"Receiving a medal in front of thousands of people is a dream of every runner," quoted Coach John Chavez. Two members of the Cross Country team captured this dream as Matt Wegenka finished 7th and Mark Brananman received 9th place in State competition. Overall, the team ranked 4th in the State. Interest in the sport continued to grow as the team ended the season with 51 distant runners composing the largest team in the State.

Golf, Tennis Ends Challenging Season

"Putting" right along, the girls golf squad placed 1st in the city meet and 7th in the State. State competitors included Sherri Smith, Mary Willman, Veronica Ihle, and Dana Marriott. Foreign exchange student Veronica Ihle stated, "I was very happy to receive the honor of going to State and receiving the Sparkplug Award. It helped me to meet many people."

Tough challenges met the girls tennis team on and off the courts. Although the squad entered the season with 23 members, renovation of Noyes courts forced Coach Randy Dedrickson to cut the team down to 12 competitors. The team ended the season holding a 3-8 record and impressive standings in city competition as Doreen O'Connor and Kris McKinney finished 2nd in doubles and Dana Rosenthal grasped a 2nd place victory in the singles event.
Team Effort Aroused To 'Set' Good Year

Consisting of 15 members, the volleyball team played through the season with new Head Coach Mike Schooley and captured 11 of their 16 matches. Juniors Trena and Stacey Kerns made the All-City team along with Senior Brenda Euler. Junior Sue Ott received honorable mention as well as receiving the Sparkplug award. Diedre Still stated, "It's been a very successful year despite the lack of enthusiasm for volleyball and next year should be even better!"
1. Varsity players discuss their game plan before a match. 2. The Indians meet their competition at the net. 3. Team effort is demonstrated as Darcy Ahrens sets the ball for Sue Oll. 4. Boys Trip Hickman During Overtime

Lead them into overtime and what do you get? . . . A victory for Central's Boys Varsity squad. Their upset over Columbia Hickman by three points sparked the highlight of the season. Top shooters, David Lau and Cory Evans, led the team through a tough year. Coach Jim Perry commented on the 11-12 record by stating, "Inexperience, timely injuries, and a difficult schedule were big factors in keeping the team from developing a winning season."

The Junior Varsity team rallied to finish with an 11-4 record. Sophomore Robby Stagner expressed, "We show a lot of promise for next year."
Fine Boardwork Tips Victories

With seven returning seniors the Varsity team, under the direction of Coach Mary Kay Hyde and Assistant Coach Julie Chadwick, ended their season with an 18-3 record. Hosting the Tomahawk Tournament for its eighth year, the team placed second falling to Shawnee Mission East. They then captured District competition but lost by a narrow defeat against Paseo to end their hopes of returning to State.

Along with several upperclassmen, two freshmen, Monique Lucas and Jennifer Vollentine, received the honor of playing on both the J.V. and Varsity teams. The Junior Varsity posted a record of 7-6 for the season.
1. Crista Troester jumps to recover a loose ball. 2. Brenda Euler attempts to intercept a pass. 3. Lafayette provides a tough defense for Brenda Euler. 4. Monique Lucas overcomes her opponent in the opening jump. 5. Jody Stanton receives aid from her team members as she dribbles down court. 6. Shooting for two points is Kathleen Dudley. 7. The Junior Varsity girls perform their opening chant.

Freshman Master Winning Season

As Central's freshman girls basketball team ended their season with a 14-3 record, they took another name as the City League Champions with a city record of 6-0. "They improved everyday from the first day to the last," commented Coach Bill Hedge.

The freshman boys' basketball team under the direction of Coach Tim Reynolds finished its season with a record of 12-4. Expressed Coach Reynolds "They put out a lot of effort and worked hard."

As for outstanding players, both coaches felt that everyone on both teams deserved that honor.
Heir Mier Coaches Swimmers 15 Years

Selling candy from Germany and Switzerland proved successful in raising money to support the boys' diving and swimming teams as Mr. William Mier entered his 15th year as Coach. After school both teams reported to the YMCA to practice. The divers worked on their techniques and style while the swim team swam distances of 2 to 3 miles daily. Some team members showed their dedication by lifting weights and swimming before school. Coach Mier expressed "It's not the quantity but the quality, and that depends on how you practice." Kent Troester qualified for State in the diving competition.
1. A swimmer practices his kicking skills. 2. The first set of swimmers respond to the shooting of the gun. 3. Performing an artful dive is Kent Troester. 4. Racers practice their take-offs. 5. Billy Miller concentrates as he prepares for a dive. 6. Coach Miller calls out diver's scores. (see index for team picture)

Grapplers Pin Down
One-on-One Technique

"Well, hello wrestling fans..." Although not like wrestling seen on your television set, Central wrestling can keep you sitting on the edge of your seat. This year's team, under the direction of Mr. Tony Dudik and Mr. Jon Heermann, snatched the City title and placed second in the Rockbridge Tournament of Champions. Strenuous practices and strict diets proved successful as the Varsity posted a 7-3 season and Junior Varsity a 6-2-1 record. "It's a demanding sport that takes a lot of mental as well as physical preparation," stated Scott Haeker. Mac Horn, Todd Morgan, John Laudie, and Bret Ulrich represented Central at Sub-State. Heavy weight wrestler Mac Horn received the honor of attending State competition.
Organizations
Student Body

officers
Watchful eyes focus in on any group of student body officers, but the ones that make changes get the criticism and praise. Brad Haggard, president; Ty Miller, vice-president; Lynne Vaughn, treasurer; and Kelly Wiegant, secretary, found this to be true.

The reinstatement of Senators, as opposed to the Homeroom Representatives of the past two years, proved the major change. Each class elected ten Senators and they, along with Class and Student Body officers and Cabinet, made up the school government.
Eleven Act As Advisors

The eleven Cabinet members, chosen last year by the newly elected Student Body officers, served as advisors and worked organizing all Senate activities. Their summer duties included making changes in the school Constitution and planning Homecoming. Responsibilities of Cabinet during the year included the Money Maker and all elections.
10 Senators Are Chosen

For the first time in three years classes elected ten Senators each semester with the duties of attending Senate meetings and reading the senate minutes to the different classrooms. Senate sponsored and ran many activities such as a Mr. and Mrs. Turkey Legs contest and a Homecoming dance.

1. Sherri Taylor listens intently at a Cabinet meeting. 2. Listening at a Senate meeting are Gary Lewis, Peter Lamme, Jim Carrathers, and Clark Ellison. 3. Tegwin Ehler and Megan Dixon prepare posters at a publicity meeting. 4. Students work on the effigy after school. 5. Senators voice their opinions at a student forum meeting. 6. Seniors Karl Brown and Susan Schnitker watch the effigy being built. 7. Berely Jones, Brad Sprong, and Mindy Christians staff pop for the Christmas parties. 8. Cabinet members get organized before the Money Maker games.

Pom Pons Add Spirit

The Pom Pon squad, led by Reyna Kailauer and Co-captain Robin Barker, promoted spirit at pep assemblies and games. At a summer clinic they compiled many awards which included a sweepstakes and original home routine trophy and a spirit megaphone for the "MOSTSPIRITED" squad.

1. Joining the other spirit groups in marching the halls are the Pom Pon girls. 2. The Pom Pon Squad performs for the Freshman Orientation Assembly. 3. John Bryant and Keith Mathews concentrate on playing. 4. The Pep Band warms up before a pep assembly. 5. The Pep Band shows spirit at school before a game. 6. Playing the drums at the Money Maker games is Barry Maugh. 7. Julie Grace dances to "Fame." 8. The Pom Pon Squad practices after school.
Pep Band Plays On

Many things Pep Band did included marching the halls, playing for the Booster Club, and performing at pep Assemblies. Band leader Barry Maugh stated, “This year we are trying to work together and urge the students to show more spirit.”
Saddle Club Holds Show

Breakfast centers, candy sales, and raffles contributed to the funds needed for the Saddle Club’s annual horse show. Sponsored by Mrs. Deanna Trapp, the club aided interested students with horses and horsemanship. The students, with their own horses, held clinics throughout the year to help the inexperienced members learn more about horses.

1. Shelly Bunkowski and Carol Larkin show their skills at a horse clinic. 2. Kim Williams and Mrs. Deanna Trapp discuss business. 3. Liz Juda does a cheer during a pep assembly. 4. Cheerleaders rouse spirit among football fans. 5. Cheerleaders discuss ideas for upcoming events. 6. Freshman cheerleaders watch a pep assembly from the bleachers. 7. Students speak with Mrs. Deanna Trapp before a meeting. 8. Amy Fikins, Kelly Moore, and Tiffany Byrd rest their horses at a clinic. (see index for group picture)
Memorizing 100 chants, practicing 5 hours a week and attending all home and away games required dedication and work contributed by the cheerleaders. The squad consisted of 3 divisions, Freshman, Junior Varsity, and Varsity, with 6 girls in each. "I thoroughly enjoy working with the cheerleaders" stated Melanie Adams.
Wrestlers Cheerled On

Fifty girls tried out for the eight spots on the wrestling cheerleader squad. The girls not only cheered at home matches, but also traveled to out-of-town games. "We help them to feel there's someone behind them," said Jenny Preble.
"Swimmers, on your mark, get set, go!" Listening to the shot of the starting gun, members of the Timers Club kept the swimmers' times. In this way, the club played an important role at each meet.

1. Deanne Beattie and Beth Berry encourage the wrestlers.
2. Girls perform at the wrestling cheerleader tryouts.
3. Wrestling cheerleaders practice after school.
4. Lisa Harris and Michelle Potts compare times.
5. Mrs. Deanna Trapp collects time sheets from timers after a race.
6. Swimmers and timers wait for the results of a relay.
7. Timers wait for the swimmers to finish a race.
8. Jenny Preble and Dorothy Dowden display enthusiasm at a wrestling match.

The flag girls practice marching. 8. Precision adds to the half-time show.
The percussion section, under the direction of Barry Maugh, appeared in the spotlight often. Featured in half-times and pep assemblies, members also represented the music department when KQTV filmed the section for the show "School Days."
C & F Work On Formula

Crankshafts and Flywheels, the two-year-old small engines club, continued their project of building a Formula I car. The club anticipates the completion of the car in two years. Sponsor Mr. Don Piveral stated, "It gives the members a chance to be involved in mechanics that is usually handled by a few people."
Members of the Brush and Pencil Club demonstrated their Christmas spirit by helping with the Sugar Plum Festival at Albrecht Art Museum. Prospective members submitted drawings for membership acceptance.

1. Chris Dean and Eric Sharp make sure of their accuracy. 2. Cory Jackson, Chris Dean, and Eric Sharp help each other get the job done. 3. Quinten Osten and John Karns check their work. 4. Brush and Pencil members work on paper dolls for the Sugar Plum Festival. 5. Sponsor Mrs. Jane Voss puts finishing touches on a Christmas ornament. 6. Gail Grable and Carla North prepare a plaster arm. 7. Sharon Duckworth trims a gingerbread man. 8. Concentrating on Mr. Piveral's demonstration is Erin Sharp.

Club Interests
Many Students

Twice a month approximately seventy students involved in Chem-Physics met to explore the world of chemical and physical science. Inviting guest speakers, acting out roles of scientists, discussing theories, and playing games helped them enjoy their classes in Chemistry I and II, Physics, and Science Investigations.
Terrariums Help Biology Club

With thoughts of a camping trip as incentive, members of the Biology Club made and sold terrariums to raise money. Sponsored by Mr. Dennis Reule and Mr. Dan Powell, the club met Thursday evenings. President Mindy Christians commented, "It's a great way to get to know people."

1. Chem-Physics club members present their Fall Homecoming banner. 2. Renee Hecker and Tracy Thompson take an active part in a Chem-Physics meeting. 3. Susan Long and Susan Schnitker discuss the different types of plants. 4. Mindy Christians and Mr. Dan Powell enjoy a laugh at a meeting. 5. Paper Reflects Student Outlook

In a contest held in 1944, students chose the title of OUTLOOK for Central’s newspaper because the building at that time overlooked the city. The 1981-82 staffs approved of the name, feeling that the paper represented the “outlook” of the student body. Sponsor Mrs. Mary Jo Hornaday expressed “… that the major goal of the newspaper is always to be the communicator of happenings at CHS, stimulator of student opinion, and reflector of student interest.”
WAKITAN introduced many new ideas in the 1982 yearbook, including more art work, and individual layout and copy editors. WAKITAN also emphasized the use of color throughout the book instead of just the beginning pages. "The staff strived to find a different style of book," stated Editor Carolyn Hovenga.
1. Editor Carolyn Hovenga discusses completed paged with Mary Beyer. 2. Beverly Jones types while Julie Walkup explains an assignment to Lisa West. 3. "I love the students, my work, and the atmosphere," said Mrs. Ivel Weipert, a secretary in the main office. Working behind the scenes, Nurse Mrs. Jo Stokes, secretaries, cooks, and custodians kept the school running smoothly. According to the head cook, Mrs. Jessie Shaiffer, a smaller but efficient cooking staff arrived each morning at 7:00 to prepare lunch. Custodians arrived at 6:30. Mr. Clarence Perry, a custodian in the lower Sophomore Annex, said "I really like my job and the people on my floor."
Staff Administration
Changes in the faculty of Central included a new Dean of Girls, Mrs. Joyce Piveral, and the death of Business Law and Typing teacher Mr. Don Cochran. This loss affected the staff as well as students. "He was a really nice guy who was always concerned," stated Business Law student Bruce Loveless.

Freshman officers
"I think our Freshman class has outstanding spirit," commented Class President Brett Halsey. They proved this by their participation in the Money-maker and various other projects. Other spirit leaders, Vice-President Veronica Lopez, and Secretary-Treasurer Susi Brown, aided in guiding the Class of '85 through a successful year.

1. Patty Crist and Julie McDonald enjoy time between classes. 2. Mr. Gary Sprague helps Carla Pape on her American History assignment. 3. Wendy Howard and Mike Levers concentrate on their books. 4. Sheri Smith, Andrea Taylor, and Marilyn Thompson take a break during lunch.
1. Freshmen Beth Berry and Carmen White walk through the building before school. 2. Cindy King hurries through the halls with a smile.

During the 1981-82 school year, the WAKITAN staff transformed Central into a stage using the theme "In the Spotlight." The spotlight shined on activities, sports, academics, and organizations as well as individuals, capturing the year in a unique way. Remember the queen assemblies? exciting victories and frustrating defeats in sports? long boring lectures? club meetings? late nights studying for tests? breakfast centers (DONUTS)!? pep assemblies? elections? and those days when we would have rather been anywhere else but in school? These memories are tucked away in our minds and on these pages. Now the year draws to a close and the spotlight fades to black. None of us will ever forget the year spent IN THE SPOTLIGHT.

As the school year draws to a close, Spring awakens like a rose. Dress-up days, club activities, Add to the Spring festivities. The baseball bats and golf clubs swing. At music contests voices sing. Juniors fear initiation, Seniors plan for graduation. Frosh and sophomores look ahead, Some with joy, others dread. NHS, Awards assemblies, "The Spotlight" reflects memories.
Central Attends Music Competition

Many hours of concentrated practice enabled members of band, orchestra, and choir to attend District contest in Maryville. Musicians receiving I ratings proceeded to State competition in Columbia. Violinist Nolan Tapp commented, "I was very nervous...but I went ahead and performed to the best of my ability."
Central Dominates City Competition

Consisting of 18 seniors and two juniors the Varsity baseball team ended the season with a 15-3 record and 14 consecutive victories. All Central teams had winning records in city titles. The Freshman team finished with a 7-1 record, Reserve team with a 6-0 record, and the Varsity team with a 6-0 record in city competition. The varsity team placed first in the Pony Express Tournament. Coach Charles Blakley, commented, "I was very pleased with this year's teams' efforts and performances." Coach Blakley expressed concern for upcoming teams, "We will be hit hard by graduation and the upcoming seniors and juniors will have to fill in."
Tennis Team Captures City

"One of the highlights of the tennis season was winning the city title back from LeBlond," commented Coach Randy Dedrickson. The team captured first place in the city tournament and sixth place in District. Prominent players included Brad Sprong, Chris Jones, Brad Wright, and Jim Clayton.
Golfers Aim For Victory

The fifteen-member golf team, coached by Mr. Jim Perry, began practicing at Fairview Golf Course two weeks before their first match. Of the six varsity and nine JV participants, outstanding players included Tom Squires, Greg Maday, Brian Mollus, and Doug Thackery.

Three Qualify For State Meet

Of the 34-member girls' swim team, Cathy Lincoln, Kris Kerns, and Kim Williams qualified for State competition. Coach Heir Mier felt while the team was young and inexperienced they cooperated well. Sophomore Zane Ann Miller stated, "We all had our ups and downs, but we worked as a team and did pretty good."

Achievements
Led By Five

Four coaches, Barry Reynolds, hurdles; Melvin Tyler, field events; Charlie Taylor and Frank Gross, sprints, along with Head Coach John Chavez, led the Boys Track Teams into many victories and achievements.

Only Cory Evans, under the direction of Coach Tyler, qualified for State in the high jump competition, placing 7th.

Both the Boys J.V. and Varsity Track Teams took the title of City Champions and placed at least 3rd at every meet. “This is the best performance by a team in the last 12 years. I am most proud of all their accomplishments,” stated Coach Chavez.

Injuries Plague Girls Track Team

The girls track team, consisting of forty members, practiced from three to five each day after school. The team suffered from an epidemic of injuries, which cost them over one-half of the girls at various times during the season. "It wasn't a disappointing team, but a year of injuries and disappointments," commented Coach Frank Gross. Despite this, Central received first in the city meet, and six girls from Districts qualified for the Sectional meet.
Students Unite For Candidates

From the day sign-ups began to the day of the final elections the candidates, their campaign and art managers, friends and the student body were involved in the frenzied activity of the student body elections. Preparation for the campaigns took time and patience. The students created slogans, made banners, printed pass-outs, wrote speeches, and worried about the election outcome. Final results showed Jeff Newey, president; Amy Haynes, vice-president; Megan Dixon, secretary; and Ray Smith, treasurer.
Continuing a fifty-six-year-old tradition, National Honor Society conducted Tap Day and Initiation ceremonies. Brian Hoffman presided over the assembly while several seniors gave speeches on the four traits required of prospective members — scholarship, leadership, service, and character. A banquet held at Swiss Chalet honored Mrs. Carol Cutler who retired as Dean of Girls in 1981. Janet Nelson ranked first in the class of 1982. Lisa Childress followed as the salutatorian of the 448 graduating seniors.
Students Earn Honor, Praise

For their varied achievements, outstanding students in all four classes received honors at two spring assemblies. Several dozen accomplished seniors earned awards and scholarships presented at the senior assembly on May 24. These scholarships included the traditional areas of social studies, science, journalism, and athletics. In addition, the first annual presentation of the Sheryl Lynn Harman Morgan Memorial Scholarship highlighted the ceremony. On May 26 selected freshmen, sophomores and juniors accepted their prizes for activities such as creative writing, accounting, Brain Bowl, math team, and ROTC.

Prom Relocated At Civic Arena

Candlelight flickered on dazzling tuxedoes and formal gowns dancing among floating balloons, suspended stars of blue and silver, and stardusty glitter sprinkled on the floor, as the Extremes enchanted them with rock, punk, and slow music. The Civic Arena provided a lively new atmosphere for the prom instead of the Showcase Ballroom, whose new owners did not honor a year-old contract. Bill Bachman crowned Scott Haeker and Beth Burris King and Queen of the event. The theme “Precious and Few” faded into a memory as couples disappeared through shimmering curtains.

Nelson Named Valedictorian

On May 27, 1982, 448 seniors graduated from the halls of Central High School. Dr. Gerald Troester, Superintendent of the St. Joseph School District, gave the address as approximately 2000 parents and friends watched in the crowded gymnasium. Awards were presented to the Top 10 of the senior class with Janet Nelson as valedictorian. Kent and Crista Troester received the Spartan Awards, Randy Collins the Ruth Spangberg Award, and Brad Haggard and Kelly Wiegant the Frank C. Baker Award.
Each spring finds Central High School and the people who make it up busily involved in a vast number of activities. In order to cover a few of those, the yearbook staff creates a supplement for March through May graduation.

This year the junior staff took on these pages solo. To recognize their efforts, a byline has been included for each spread. Teresa Laudie and April Short, who will serve Central as the '83 WAKITAN Editor and Assistant Editor, created the opening and closing pages.

Unlike most teams, the yearbook staff has only one real opportunity to be "in the spotlight." Therefore, in this supplement I will say "Thank You" again to all of the staff members who worked so well to capture memories of our '81-'82 school year.

All excited in many ways,
Bright plans for sunny days.
Family vacations in store,
Working some, and playing more.
Signing yearbooks, book return cards,
Babysitting, mowing yards.
Taking finals, saying goodbye,
Cleaning lockers with a sigh.
So much to do in so few days,
Springtime in "The Spotlight's" haze.
